NATIONAL TRADE JOURNAL

For the FANCY AND COMMERCIAL RABBIT INDUSTRY

Seven Definite Reasons Why We Afford You The BEST RABBIT - SKIN MARKET IN U.S.A.

1. Reliable Fur Industries has been in constant operation for more than one and a half decades. Through good times and bad, Reliable has never ceased to provide raisers a year 'round market for every rabbit skin produced.
2. We supply huge quantities of rabbit skins direct to Dressers, Dyers, Manufacturers and Hatters. We get top prices and allow generous advantages to pass on to skin shippers - at all times.
3. Our Eastern Division, in New York City, benefits from the counsel of an expert Fur Marketer who has been identified with the fur business for 35 years.
4. Our Eastern Division is managed by a member, in good standing, of the American Fur Merchants Association.
5. Skin shippers are not compelled to rely on our integrity for amounts of returns from shipments sent us. They are advised of price changes, market, conditions and trends through our special bulletins mailed regularly to all RFI fur shippers.
6. Reliable Fur Industries was started, has been maintained and constantly enlarged by a rabbit breeder who understands every problem confronting breeders and raisers.
7. Reliable's growth can be attributed to a single aim—that of steadfastly helping rabbit raisers to receive more and more from their efforts.

When You Sell Them Direct To American Rabbit Skin Headquarters

You get every last penny organized marketing can possibly develop for you. Only a trifling differential is allowed for overhead, because the expense of handling is spread over thousands of transactions.

We warehouse mammoth quantities in both California and New York and thus are enabled to release desired quantities of skins when market conditions favor! Advantages so gained are reflected in our prices to shippers.

Twenty-Second Annual Convention and Show of the A. R. & C. B. A., Inc., Held at Ft. Wayne, Ind., Nov. 24-29

The twenty-second annual convention of the American Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association which was held at Fort Wayne, Ind., November 24-29, 1941, is a thing of the past but will not soon be forgotten by all in attendance. The Fort Wayne breeders again showed us they could put on another convention and show and do the job as it should be done. With a fine show room and cooping all ready for stock as they arrived, Gust Rutz and Oscar Smith cooping with their many associates including Ora Blessing, Bernie Freudenberg and many others, they did a good job and all appreciated their good work.

Doctor Andrews and Emil Voigt, of course, were working night and day with them and Francis Knight and the office force which is necessary to put on a successful convention show was on the job, also. In fact, there were so many good workers, I cannot recall all their names. The ladies furnished nice eats at their stand at the west end of the show room during the week and Mrs. Rutz, Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Voigt and many others were there, whose names I do not recall, from morning to closing time to serve you daily.

The exhibit consisted of over 1,400 rabbits of nearly all breeds and varieties and many high class animals among them. Glad to see a nice exhibit of Angoras this year, the shearing and spinning of Angora wool put on by Mr. and Mrs. Noblitt of Lafayette, Ind., Mrs. Atwood of Denver, Colo., Mr. Orr, of Palmer Lake, Colo., and others, proved very interesting and demonstrated to the public what could be done at home with the wool from the time it is taken from the animal until made into the finished product ready for wear with no other machine than a spinning wheel.

The trip to the McMillen Feed Mills at Decatur, Ind., Monday afternoon was well attended and was very interesting. This is a very

THE NEW YEAR

This is the season of the year set apart by tradition to wish everyone a Happy New Year.

This year is different. We are at war. We do not know what the coming year holds in store for us, but we do know we are sending our boys out to save our country. It CAN and MUST BE DONE.

It is a good time to express our gratitude for this country which means life and freedom as only Americans can appreciate it.

Our boys are giving their lives if necessary — our job is to stand squarely behind them and our government in every way possible to help in the defense program.

We appreciate our friends who have entrusted their business to us as you have done. We have tried to merit that trust.

During the past year we hope you have gained the same pleasure and satisfaction from the relations that we have enjoyed in serving you. For the business you have given us, and for the pleasant association, we say, thank you.

Wishing for all a New Year to be spent in the joy of service to our country.

large plant and is composed of not only the enormous feed mill but the Central Sugar Company and the Central Soya Company, which produces over 9,000 carloads of Soya Bean Meal per annum and 1,250 tank cars of Soya Bean Oil. Cars were furnished for all. I happened to be with Bernie Freudenberg and is he some driver. Ask Mr. Law and Mrs. Atwood.

The fur display of Vandeweghe Corporation attracted much attention and showed the visitors what can be done with rabbit skins in not only making fur garments but felt hats as well. Mr. Vandeweghe was in charge of the exhibit.

Judging began promptly as was scheduled Tuesday morning, November 25, and was completed on Wednesday afternoon a little later than scheduled but the judges had a big job on their hands and were good and tired when same was finished.

The judging conference followed completion of judging Wednesday afternoon but sorry one of our most important talks by President Fehr could not be given on account of our time was all taken up and evening meetings coming on. John Furrer, of St. Louis, our newly elected director, who was one of the judges, arose from his sick bed and assisted in judging but was forced to return home on account of illness. At the judge's conference, Gust Foerster gave a talk on the Checkered Giants, Gus Siegmund on Rexes, Doctor Hart on Belgians and Judge Griffin on Flemish and especially called attention to the defect or spur appearing on the inside of front legs of some Flemish found at the show. Stated he had not disqualified the specimens and after some discussion it appeared the majority of judges present upheld Judge Griffin in his decision. Mr. Vandeweghe of New York gave a very interesting talk on furs at the conference trying to explain to the breeders and judges just what is wanted in a good furred rabbit. Six o'clock came and it was necessary to bring conference to a close.

The banquet was held Tuesday evening at Hotel Anthony with over 200 in attendance and good eats were served and enjoyed by all. Doctor Andrews acted as the toastmaster and did a good job. Mayor of Fort Wayne gave a very nice address of welcome. Professor Card of Michigan State College was principal speaker and his talk was very much appreciated by all. Professor Card gave a very interesting talk which appears on another page of this issue.

First Session of American Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association

The first session followed the banquet. Meeting called to order by President Fehr who gave a short address of welcome, then proceeded on regular business.

First: Appointment of auditing committee to audit secretary's books. C. N. Farley, Marion Stoner, R. C. Huggins were appointed on this committee.

Next in order was the report of the election committee. Molly J. Smith, chairman, gave the following report:

We, the undersigned, members of the election commission have counted the election ballots, and found the following results:

471 ballots cast.

President: John C. Fehr, 309; Oscar Schultze, 153.

President Fehr then called for the secretary's report, which was given by Secretary Weygandt as follows:

Fort Wayne, Ind., Convention

November 24-29, 1941

November 25 to 28, 1936, we held our seventeenth annual convention at Fort Wayne, Ind., and it proved a very successful one. Five years have passed since that time and our industry along with other industries has had a hard time to keep in existence. However, we have pulled through and the outlook today for our industry is better than it has been for years. Instead of trying to locate markets for our new members, as we did several years past, our great work today is to secure more breeders and more production in both rabbits and cavsies. Each individual member can do his share in this work by inducing his neighbor to take up rabbits or cavsies. Hundreds in cities and towns have available space doing them no good whatsoever that could be utilized for this purpose at a profit with a lot of pleasure for the entire family added along with it. The demand is good. Skin prices higher than they have been for years and I see no reason why conditions for our industry should not continue to improve for several years to come.

In many sections there are no meat rabbits available for the laboratories are taking all the surplus and at times cannot secure their requirements. Unless we can get more breeders interested, we are not going to have enough to furnish laboratories in some sections of the country to say nothing about meat markets this winter. Every breeder should try to induce his neighbor to enter our industry and help to increase production. We are making some progress but we need many more to take up this healthy, interesting and last but not least profitable work.

Many are going in for Angora Woolers and there is a bright future ahead for this phase of the industry. The A. R. & C. B. A. has made considerable gain in memberships during the past year but there is still room for improvement. Too many, I am afraid join the A. R. & C. B. A. to get the guide book and standard (which is worth much more than the price of membership) then drop out until another is issued. Resolution No. 3 offered this year, if it passes, may overcome this and help us to keep our membership up. Every member should try and secure a new member whenever possible. Secretaries of locals, judges and registrars should do likewise whenever the opportunity presents itself.

The advertising done by our marketing committee the past year has done us much good and while not directly in securing members, it has placed us in touch with hundreds who never knew there was such an industry. Over 9,000 booklets were sold through this advertising and most of these were mailed out on single orders. During the height of our advertising, I received 60 to 80 inquiries daily for these booklets. These come from a new field and many questions asked relative to our association and industry and inquiries were promptly answered, if the booklet did not contain the answers. The cost of this advertising (amounting to several hundred dollars) was taken out of the marketing committee fund which was derived by a few donations from members and local associations, advertising and sale of booklets, also a percentage of memberships received by the American Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association and turned over to this fund monthly. Do not know at present what the committee will decide on next year but hope something will be decided on that will keep the good work going. Yes, the outlook for 1942 is very good. Let us all do our part to make it a banner year for our industry.

Correspondence: Correspondence during the past year was much heavier than the preceding year due to not only more activity in our industry but to the publicity and advertising. Many in writing for the booklets made inquiries about our association and industry and many seeing the ads wrote in for our free catalogue, these were informed, we were a breeders association and did not buy or sell stock and a No. 9 bulletin "Hints to Beginners" was furnished with membership application enclosed requesting them to join, so I could send them a copy of our guide book.

Memberships: Our membership is growing but we still have room for improvement and we wish to call attention to each individual member to try and send in at least one member during the coming year. Many do it and several send in quite a number during the year. Enclosed in each booklet sent out was a yellow sheet giving details of our association and the advantages of being a member with space for one to fill in name and address and mail in with fee of membership. However, up to October 1, we had only 179 of these slips returned with a membership fee. Fifty cents from each of these memberships were turned over to the publicity fund monthly and 25 cents from each regular member. In mailing out our ballots this year, I find our membership increased about 400 over last year in members, who were up-to-date. In 1939 only 861 ballots were mailed; 1940, 1,150; and 1941, 1,550.

Chartered Locals: We about held our own in chartered locals the past year and granted charters to six new local associations and two states, making a total of 160 locals and 18 state associations. Illinois and Missouri no longer hold a combined charter for both states but Illinois State Association is chartered by itself leaving Missouri with no state charter. In each locality where you have enough breeders do not hesitate to organize a local association and take out charter with the American Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association. Full instructions with proposed copy of constitution and by-laws for local associations furnished free for the asking.

Ladies Auxiliaries: Our ladies auxiliaries have not increased during the past year and while we know the ladies are always willing to do their part in association work I presume many feel they can work along with the local association as well as through an auxiliary. The ladies at Syracuse, N. Y., are the only new auxiliary organized the past year.

Specialty Clubs: The specialty clubs continue to work along with and boost their respective breeds and we with them. There was only one new specialty club charter granted the past year which was the Giant Chinchilla club, which has a good strong membership to start with. During the past 13 months since my last convention report, we have turned over in registration money to the various specialty clubs $187.40. This on a basis of 10c on each registration application received.

Registrations: During the period for the 13 months ending November 1, 1941, our registrations showed a gain of about 30 per cent over the same period last year. New Zealands lead with 633, Chinchillas second this year with 371, and Flemish a close third with 333. Last year Chinchillas led by a narrow margin. Checkered Giants showed a good gain this year with 76 while last year there were only 30 Checkered Giants registered. Angoras made a wonderful gain with 197 registered in this period as compared with 76 last year. Other breeds with 20 or more as follows: Havanas, Dutch, French Silver, Creme D'Argents and Rexes. However, the last month registrations showed a great increase and should continue to do so during the next few months.

Special Ribbons: Our new method of giving out special ribbons for our chartered association shows worked very successfully and not only helped to secure a few new members but resulted in slight reduction in cost. Since my last report we have furnished 356 large special ribbons and 40 championship certificates to chartered associations for their shows.

Grand Championship Certificates: There is still a demand for grand championship certificates but nothing like there should be. During the past 13 months, we have given out 30 grand championship certificates covering animals for exceptional quality as compared with 29 given my last report which goes to show breeders are still interested in breeding some of the good ones. Blanks are furnished free for the asking.

Bulletins, Meat Posters, Etc.: During the past year there has been a great demand for No. 9 bulletins (Hints to Beginners) and several hundred have been mailed out to prospective breeders but the demand for meat posters, cooking recipes, waxed wrappers, etc., promoting the sale of rabbit meat have not been so good. I attribute this to the lack of production in many sections of the country and nearly all surplus stock going to laboratories. However, we still carry these in stock and can furnish them to our members in any quantity at cost to the association.

Our Marketing Committee: Mr. Holtzinger, chairman of this committee, will have a full report for us later on during the convention.

Publicity Committee: Ed. Stahl, chairman of this committee, will give full report on advertising, booklets, sold, etc. You will also see in my financial report the amounts taken in on booklets which was turned over to the publicity committee fund. This committee has done great work this year as you will see by Mr. Stahl's report. Twenty-five cents on each regular member and 50c on each membership enclosed with the booklets were turned over to this fund during the past 13 months which amounted to $363. Also, money received for booklets (less postage) and net proceeds from advertising which will be given later on.

4-H Club Committee: Last July, President Fehr appointed a 4-H club committee composed of Keith C. Forbush, of Dearborn, Mich., chairman and Theo. Lokemoen of Wisconsin, Robert S. Humbert of Indiana, and Walter Weber of Michigan. These gentlemen are all interested in 4-H club work in their various states and we are glad arrangements have been made to have a real 4-H club exhibit at this convention. I know we will all be interested in Mr. Forbush's report on the committees' work for the short time they have been appointed. We should encourage this 4-H club work in every way possible.

Our Government Representatives: We are pleased to have with us at this convention again, Mr. Templeton, who is in charge of the United States Rabbit Experiment Station located at Fontana, Calif., also Charles Kellogg, whom you all have met before representing our

These two gentlemen are very much interested in our industry and I know you all will appreciate what they have to tell us at this convention.

Support the Journals: We have not many journals devoted to our cause at present time, but every breeder should support them whenever possible to do so. How often you hear of breeders complaining of being unable to sell stock, yet, they never advertise. How can they expect to sell when they do not let the public know they have stock to sell. Support the journals as they help boost our industry and this is helping you.

Prominent Breeders Pass On: During the past year the following prominent breeders have been taken from us and reported to me. We know they will be greatly missed by their friends and our industry they have supported for the past several years. W. F. Dodge, Tacoma, Wash.; Fred H. Inman, Wichita, Kan.; Mrs. A. J. Jansen, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. S. H. Sixma, Muskegon, Mich.; L. M. Davis, El Monte, Calif.; K. W. Fox, Rochester, N. Y.; Harry Thompson, Chicago, Ill.; N. E. Wilcox, Minneapolis, Wis.; and Mrs. Stickles, Mukwonago, Wis. I would thank all to give me a report of deaths of members during the year so I can include in my news each month.

Net turned over to Treasurer for publicity committee fund (as shown in my annual report) --$1,162.69

We wish to thank all of our good workers for their support during the past year which is the cause for our progress during 1941. Let us make 1942 still better.

Mr. Templeton of the United States Experiment Station of Fontana, Calif., then gave a very interesting talk on results of experiments carried on at the station the past year, also including interesting talk on coccidiosis in rabbits. Mr. Templeton's speech follows:

Speech by Mr. Templeton

I really just don't know what length to figure on to talk. I only have one opportunity to meet with this group, and I would like to use a little of your time, and I hope while I am here I can make the acquaintance of a great many people. I must tell you just one thing, before I talk about rabbits because it has a direct bearing on a very important part of our production program.

I was reminded this evening which recalled an experience which I have had a number of times. I visited a negro school at Tuscaloosa, Ala. They feed these boys and girls in a mess hall. While I was there I noticed a colored man who was the chef. He said to me, "Stay with me and as the meal advances you will get the idea. Everything is quiet and as the meal progresses there will be a hum. If the meal is satisfactory it is like a swarm of contented bees. It is my job to see that they do not fail to hum in two consecutive meals."

INCREASE IN CLASSIFIED AD RATE

Beginning February 1, 1942, our classified advertising rate will be five cents per word for single insertion, and four cents per word per month for three or more insertions, with a minimum of ten words.

The sharp increased circulation justifies this small advance in price.

We do not hesitate to assert that SMALL STOCK MAGAZINE is the best medium of advertising for the rabbit and cavy breeder in the field. We cover the industry.

Any advertising received prior to February 1, 1942, will be taken at the old rate—including yearly contracts. All classified ads are payable in advance.

Rules of advertising are the same. See note at top of classified advertising page.

Our Slogan:

You Raise the Stock—We'll Sell It!

INTERESTING RESULTS OF HOLIDAY SPECIAL

It is very gratifying to the management of SMALL STOCK MAG-AZINE that the holiday special at the time of going to press far exceeds in results any special offer ever offered.

It is also interesting to note from a carefully compiled poll that over 60 per cent of the returns were from new readers.

What does that mean—just one thing—that in addition to the renewals of old subscribers more than that number in new readers have become interested in rabbits.

This is an indication that there is a new interest being stimulated in the industry and this is our opportunity to continue to stimulate and make America rabbit conscious.

Now as never before is the time to put the commercial possibilities of the domestic rabbit industry before the public.

Let's all get together and put this industry where it rightfully belongs.

NOTICE IMPORTANT

If you have repewed your subscription within the past month and your name does not carry the new date please do not write until you have received another issue of the magazine. This will save the circulation department a lot of work.

Two leading factors in building up a profitable business are value and promptness.

NATIONAL RABBIT WEEK

Again this year the Purina Mills of St. Louis, Mo., are promoting "National Rabbit Dinner Week"
with the dates set for March 1-8.
To our mind the dates are much better and another year if possible
they should be moved up still earlier as we believe greater results could be obtained by having this week in colder weather.

Purina Mills have shown their faith in the domestic rabbit industry as evidenced by the advertising in the special four page section in this issue and this year they are giving away all sales help to help promote this event and give it the greatest publicity possible. Now it is up to every breeder in these United States to cooperate with the Purina Mills, and help themselves as well. We are sure that by using the advertising material furnished by Purina Mills that every community can be made rabbit conscious.
Your local papers will be more than glad to get in behind this proposition and give you local stories which will tie-in with the publicity material you can get from the Purina people.

Are you going to do your share
by cooperating with the publicity material furnished by Purina Mills.

After "Rabbit Week is over we would appreciate having a story
from every breeder who cooperates stating your results and the reaction to this plan.

MOVING TO PENNSYLVANIA

In a recent letter from W. J.

that he is moving to Pennsylvania and will be located near Holvedays-

CONVENTION NOTES

In checking entries at the Fort Wayne convention we find that there were 1450 rabbits, 78 fur entries and 19 cavy, making a total of 1545 entries which we believe is the all time high for convention shows.

As far back as we can remember this was the first convention that every officer and every member of the board of directors were in attendance.

The New Zealand club should be commended for its action in using Defense Stamps for the club specials during the coming year. This is something that every breeder should back.

It was like old times to see the Vandewegge fur display again. And many of the old-timers will remember the fine displays that this concern brought to the conventions
in the years past.

One very interesting feature was the movie of the Rockland Farms.
While the industry as a whole have had a faint idea of what this concern has been doing it was brought forcibly to our attention that this concern holds top place in the laboratory field. This picture showed the modern buildings in use and the modern facilities used in the mouse and cavy breeding development. It also showed what can be done in the way of manufacturing commercial fertilizer from the manure that accumulates around most rabbitries.

Mrs. Noblitt of Lafayette, Ind.
put on a very interesting Angora spinning demonstration one afternoon, using an old-fashioned spinning wheel in the demonstration.
Mrs. Atwood of Denver, also had a very interesting display of Angora garments for the convention
visitors.

Again this year the farewell party demonstrated that it was the high light of the good times at the convention. As usual every year the attendance gets larger and this year was no exception, some 135 persons from 15 states. You will have to hand it to that man Griffin—he is a very popular host at these parties.

So far as we were able to learn the judging at this show was par excellence and we did not hear a complaint. Another good thing was that the judges handled the classes
as advertised in the convention catalog.

The 4-H club display proved to be very popular and there was a

TWENTY-SECOND ANNUAL CONVENTION AND SHOW

By that I will say that your banquet was a hummer.

Let us take that thought over into our own industry. There is a world of satisfaction in feeding a group of people satisfactorily. I would like to comment particularly on one thing that Professor Card brought up this evening. I know you people appreciate a man of his calibre, and what a fine thing it is to have a man in one of our state agricultural industries interested in our industry. How many have contacted your agricultural college to help you? I hope every breeder contacts your state agricultural college and ask them to help you. There is plenty of literature available today to make a start. You can stimulate these people to get working for you.

I am going to make another appeal to you. We are missing two wonderful things. We are missing an opportunity to serve a human faction. We have an industry which has an appeal and I want to mention several cases to illustrate the point. If you can find a person who needs something to restore health or mind or carry over a hard spot, there is no kind of industry better than rabbit production. California has built a new house of correction. There are eight or ten tracts, which the boys there work without anyone watching them. They are on their honor. This is what I am interested in.

They have put in there 100 breeding does to appeal to those young fellows to occupy their minds while they are being corrected. We have had correspondence with the warden there. He is interested in reclaiming men. He is making definite plans now to put in a herd of rabbits to supply meat for the mess hall.

Be sure, if you sponsor a movement, that someone is going to handle it who is capable. I talked to a rabbit breeders club in Maryland. A young lady was in that crowd whom you could not help but watch her, particularly after we asked questions. "I was trained for a concert artist. I had reverses and lost my health, part of my restoration program was rabbits to get my nerves together. I was never happier than now. I am making a good living. If more people who are on the border of ragged nerves would take up an employment like this it would mean so much. I am going to give you a case which sounds unreasonable and shows how rabbits can be used to help somebody. I know a boy who was blind since he was a little chap, and he made his entire expenses. "I have got to add 100 more does to my herd. I won a scholarship and it is going to take 100 more to help me through college. If a blind boy can do a thing like that we have lots of people who could still take up rabbit production as a means of helping them with their problems.

We are very much pleased with this part of our program. Our correspondence with rabbit breeders all over the United States leads up into thousands of letters. We are having more requests for working out new problems. If you have a rabbit problem that we can help you with please feel perfectly free to get in touch with me.

Harry G. Herrlein, of New York N. Y., gave an interesting talk on nutrition and account of time could not show his pictures at this meeting but same were shown later on and all enjoyed same very much. Mr. Herrlein spoke as follows:

Speech by Mr. Herrlein

I am happy to be here. I have a lot to say, but in all fairness to the speaker to follow, I will get this over with quickly. Let me add a compliment to the Fort Wayne breeders, you have done a fine job.

In 1914 when I first became rabbit conscious I noticed in French homes the rabbit idea as a meat. I came back with a few ideas and worked them out. The records will show that I joined in 1920. With my operations in the east, it brought me in contact with the research world. I think that I can count for almost a half million rabbits being sold commercially. We are putting out about 35,000 a year. I have brought some movies along, which I would be very pleased to show.

I am going to talk in the terms of fanciers. There is a lot of work to be done. Since the American is the only organization which we can fall back on for further progress and put the rabbit where it is supposed to be. No matter what breed you are breeding, breed more of them. A good many of us who are breeding rabbits have gone into full time work. The experience of breeding stock is not coming from the market. It is coming from you fellows. We need, and have to depend, upon the fanciers to produce the animals. In California—in most every hotel at least one or two times a week the rabbit food will show on the menu. Why not in the other? Because it is not being publicized.

We must also go into nutrition. In the last five years we have become nutrition conscious because avenues have been opened which have been surprising. Nutrition is tied in with many ailments. The first is Snuffles. Give adequate nourishment for this, and the other is coccidiosis. However, we have found by comparison that by eliminating the fresh green food from the intake of the animal you will reduce this. I have always been a great believer in fresh vegetables, for rabbits. I am for pellets today. I want you people here to realize the amount of Vitamin A contained in the dry leaves from the trees in your homes that you rake up in the fall and burn up. We gather them up and feed them to our rabbits. There is plenty supply of vitamin A in these. I wrote an article and I mentioned that the combined research knowledge of the world has yet to duplicate the milk coming out of the mother's breasts. Another suggestion is do not wean them too soon. Until they are seven weeks, if you can. Give food that is higher than 12 per cent in protein and you will find as you go along that you do not have to break your litters, to four or five or six, you can keep seven, eight or nine and raise them.

Meeting then adjourned until 8 p. m. Wednesday evening.

Specialty Club Meetings started on schedule basis Wednesday morning and were held in line with program outlined in catalogue.

President Fehr then called for report from the Marketing Committee and a very interesting report given by J. E. Holtzinger, chairman of the committee. Mr. Holtzinger stressed the fact that we needed more publicity advertising the good qualities of domestic rabbit meat and recommended that we work with locals and establish killing plants and quick freeze units all over the country. Locals throughout the country to arrange for locker space and arrange to kill surplus rabbits during May, June and July which will relieve the breeder of this surplus and also expense of feeding and at the same time build up a supply for the demand which always increases after the hot summer is over. Mr. Holtzinger spoke of intestinal trouble breeders were having the past year and in two local cases, it was found that certain feed dealers had been using a certain chemical rat poison in their ware houses and this in some manner had penetrated the sacks of rabbit feed. So, this goes to show we should not be too hasty in condemning rabbit feed but the best and safest way to locate your trouble is to have a post mortem made of one of your animals. The cost will not be much and it may save you several dollars.

President Fehr then called for a report from the publicity committee and Ed Stahl, chairman of this committee gave his report. Calling attention to the amount of advertising done by the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association, the past year, which amounted to over $1,000 advertising our publicity booklets and over 9,000 of these booklets were mailed out on the strength of this advertising placing us in a new field which would bring us results for sometime to come. Mr. Stahl suggested we publish another booklet the first of the year and keep the good work going. He then read answers to questionnaires sent out to advertisers of the booklets requesting their views as to results obtained through their advertising and the majority of these cards were highly in favor of another booklet, some receiving as high as 625 inquiries from their ad.

President Fehr then called for report from Chairman of the 4-H committee and Keith C. Forbush, chairman, responded as follows:

The 4-H Promotion Committee was appointed in June 1941 for the purpose of formulating specific recommendations to be presented here at the American Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Convention of 1941, Fort Wayne, Ind.

This committee is composed of people who have preserved a sincere desire to see more boys and girls in our country enjoy the rabbit as a 4-H project. The members of this committee have donated their services and much time to their own local 4-H clubs and have boys and girls in their home communities who have successfully completed the rabbit project, this without any remuneration whatever except for the personal satisfaction that they have done something worthwhile. There are dozens of other 4-H leaders in our country who have been equally interested and successful in this project.

The 4-H project is not new. It has been tried before and failed not because of the fundamental nature of the project but because we have had unscrupulous rabbit breeders in our ranks who used these boys and girls for exploitation and fattened their own wallets at the expense of the honesty and innocence of these boys and girls. If we wish for success this time we must, everyone, place the interest of the boy or girl first. Michigan, among other states, has been unfortunate to have men who sold rabbits to boys and girls at exorbitant prices and purchased offspring for practically nothing. No boy or girl should ever be obligated in this way. Independence should be encouraged and they should be urged to raise rabbits for home consumption.

We present the following recommendations for your consideration:

1. Resolution (according to attached form).

2. A. R. & C. B. A. affiliation.
The American Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association shall draw up charter to be issued to each 4-H club which has shown proof by letter of recommendation from County 4-H Leader, that the latter has accepted the initial enrollment list. It must indicate that rabbits were selected as the main project. This charter should be issued to the club secretary free of charge and would entitle each club to all services of the American Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association including one copy of the latest guidebook and standard of perfection.

3. A. R. & C. B. A. 4-H Leaders.
The American Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association shall annually secure a compiled list of all members who would, if requested, act as leaders in their own communities. This request would be made by Secretary at time of sending election ballots and this year by special notice sent to all members before January 1, 1942.

4. 4-H Bulletin.
The American Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association shall print a bulletin not to exceed ten (10) pages setting forth:
a. Purposes of the 4-H rabbit project.
b. How to start a club.
c. What the A. R. & C. B. A. does for clubs.

d. Selecting foundation stock.
e. Suggested requirements for 1st, 2d, 3d and 4th year work.

5. A. R. & C. B. A. 4-H Movie.
The American Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association shall produce a 400 foot movie film showing how rabbits are raised by a few of the leading breeders, the activities of present 4-H clubs and 4-H members rabbitries. The film shall be purchased by the American and exposures made by a selected group of 4-H leaders appointed by the president. The film shall be owned and kept on file at the secretary's office and loaned by request. The borrower shall be responsible

6. A. R. & C. B. A. show 4-H Department Regulations.

Official A. R. & C. B. A. shows can encourage 4-H work by offering a special department for 4-H exhibitors. It is further recommended by the committee that at each show a special day be set aside as 4-H Day. At this time 4-H exhibits would be judged, demonstrations given, and any other events of interest to the 4-H exhibitors would be held.

The committee recommends the following rules:

A. Rules for educational division of display:

1. All posters, models or other parts of display should:

a. Demonstrate economic value of rabbits.

b. Show purposes of 4-H clubs in general.

c. Be neat, attractive, simple and authentic.

d. Be located with rabbits exhibited by members.

e. Be allowed free space in the show room.

B. Rules for animals exhibited:

1. Each specimen entered shall:

a. Be given free entry.

b. Have tattoo earmark.

c. Be given same consideration and care as stock entered in open classes.

d. Be entered in open class if owner pays regular entry fee.

2. Entry blank must be plainly labeled "4-H Department" and indicate whether or not educational display will accompany animals entered.

C. Rules for judging.

1. There must be two or more judges.

One must be licensed A. R. & C. B. A. judge, the other a local, county or state 4-H leader who is not a party in sponsoring a display. The third judge may be a rabbit breeder or another 4-H leader of a local club not a party in sponsoring a display.

D. Score card for judging total display of each club.

1. Highest total points for display of animals, (2d, 15; 3d, 10; 4th, 5) 20 points.

2. Effectiveness of exhibits.

a. In advertising economic value of rabbits, 15 points.

b. In advertising care of animals and equipment used, 15 points.

c. In demonstrating general purposes of 4-H work, 15 points.

3. Neatness and attractiveness of whole exhibit, 20 points.

4. Demonstration team, 15 points.

Total points, 100.

RESOLUTION

American Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Assn.

Whereas, the 4-H rabbit project offers boys and girls opportunity similar to other 4-H livestock projects; the present and future economic conditions warrant consideration of producing at home part of the meat supply; there appears a stronger demand for pelts and laboratory stock.

Resolved, that the American Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association support all efforts to encourage boys and girls to use the rabbit in 4-H projects and encourage the various national, state, county and local 4-H officials to give more consideration to the rabbit as a 4-H project.

It is further recommended that copy of this resolution and accepted proposals of the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association which refer to 4-H work, be sent to the national 4-H offices, and to every state leader in the United States and outlying possessions.

Mr. Templeton followed Mr. Peck's address in another talk answering all questions submitted by those present.

Meeting then adjourned until Thursday evening, November 27.

Third Session A. R. & C. B. A.

Meeting called to order by President Fehr.

Telegrams were received by Secretary Weygandt inviting the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association to hold its convention in Omaha, Neb., from the Nebraska State Association. Also the Omaha local association.

President Fehr then called for report of the auditing committee submitted as follows:

We, your committee appointed to audit the books of Secretary A. Weygandt, report that we have audited the books and find them to be correct to the best of our knowledge.

C. N. Farley, R. C. Huggins, and M. Stoner.

Motion made and seconded that report be accepted as read. Carried.

Mr. Griffin then called attention to the farewell party to be held at 11 p. m. across the street from the hotel, asking all to attend.

Mr. Griffin made motion this organization go on record thanking the Fort Wayne breeders for their hospitality and work in making this a successful show and convention. Seconded by Gust Foerster and carried unanimously. Response by Gust Rutz in behalf of the Fort Wayne club.

Mrs. Stallings thanked the women of Fort Wayne for the good time and entertainment given the visiting ladies by the Fort Wayne ladies with card parties, etc., during the week.

Gust Foerster moved that in future that resolutions be mailed along with nomination ballots as suggested by Mr. Blair. Seconded by Mr. Biskie.

Mr. Siegmund offered amendment to above resolution requesting date be set for mailing out nomination ballots. There was some discussion but as amendment was not seconded the amendment was lost but original resolution carried.

Moved by C. N. Farley, seconded by Gust Foerster that we adjourn until time and place shall be determined by board of directors. Carried.

Standard Committee Meeting

Meeting called to order by Chairman Griffin. Question of length of Angora Wool was taken up and it was recommended that:

Judges in judging Angoras should give greater consideration to uniformity of length and density of wool even though the length is not over 2 3/4 inches than to wool 3 inches or over in length which is uneven and lacking in density. Moved to accept by Ed. Stahl, seconded by Gust Foerster. Carried.

The American Chinchilla Rabbit Breeders Association went on record at its annual meeting held at Fort Wayne, November 27, 1941, to ask the standard committee to clarify the reading of the part of Chinchilla standard pertaining to the head of the Standard Chinchilla and to have it read the same as that for Heavyweight Chinchillas. Moved by Ed Stahl, seconded by Gust Foerster this change be accepted. Carried.

The Federation of New Zealand Breeders Association at its meeting held November 27, 1941, at Fort Wayne recommended that a baby class for New Zealand at all authorized American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association official shows. The age limit of this class to be three months and weight limit to be 5 to 6 1/2 pounds. Moved by Ed Stahl, seconded by Gust Foerster we accept the federation's recommendations for Baby Class for New Zealand. Carried.

Does and Litters: Judging standard for judging of does and litters was presented by Gust Foerster and after some discussion it was decided that Standard Committee did not wish to go on record as recommending a Standard for does and litters but went on record as discouraging doe and litter classes at all shows.

There being no further business the Standard Committee adjourned sine die.

Board of Directors Meeting

There were three sessions of the board of directors meetings held during the week and copy of these meetings were mailed to all officers. However on account of majority of these questions handled at these meetings were personal grievances the officers decided some time ago it would be best not to publish results of these meetings.

The Farewell Party

Judge Griffin and his assistants put on the farewell party Thursday evening following the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association meeting and all enjoyed the eats and stunts put on by Mr. Griffin until the wee hours of the morning.

This party was put on in a restaurant across the street from the Anthony Hotel and is looked forward to by all attending our conventions each year. This part of the program originated by Judge Griffin several years ago has been carried on successfully ever since and all get quite a kick out of it.

Gust Foerster, Mr. and Mrs. Stallings and many others assisted Mr. Griffin and all played their parts well. Ed Stahl, as usual, favored us with some opera selections and during the evening W. H. Blair was presented with a handsome time piece donated by the breeders in attendance to show the appreciation of Mr. Blair's good, faithful service to the industry the past many years. Mr. Stahl also a veteran supporter of the industry ended his judging career with this show. He was given a beautiful traveling bag.

Convention show report will be found on page 29.

Breeders write us that 2-month-old rabbits fed on Dixie Pellets usually average 2½ pounds or more. Dixie's concentrated pellets assure healthy, large litters — keep does in fine condition. For meat or show stock, you'll like Dixie pellets. There's no waste in these conveniently sized pellets — they cut out breeding difficulties, too. Try a free sample. Your rabbits will appreciate it!

As I View the Rabbit Business

Talk by PROFESSOR CARD at the A. R. & C. B. A. Convention, Held in Fort Wayne, Ind., November 24-29, 1941

I feel flattered to have the opportunity to again appear before you. In 1940, when the national convention and show was held in Grand Rapids, I naturally assumed that since I had been somewhat active with the Michigan association, the invitation, so to speak, was rather the order of the day. To have the opportunity to appear the second time is a courtesy which I had not previously anticipated. I hope my remarks at this time will not be misunderstood, and that I may be able to say something regarding your business which will be of interest to you as well as beneficial. I think I see a real future in the rabbit business, but I also believe there are many things that the rabbit business should be doing for themselves. I think I should first extend real congratulations to the members of the Fort Wayne Rabbit Breeders Association. I think they have done a fine job. I think that I should extend congratulations to the national officers. I spent a few minutes at the show this afternoon. It is a big show. Your president says it is the largest national show which has been held. This is a very fine record. I think, that as you look at the rabbit business at the present time, that you people who are in the rabbit business today should always keep in mind that you should give a lot of credit to the old-timers, the fellows who have raised rabbits for a great many years.

There was an individual who was sent out by his wife to a department store to buy some goods. While he was on his way he forgot what he was sent for, so he went to the clerk in the department store and said: "My wife sent me here to get either a camisole or a casserole." "If you tell me what kind of a chicken you are going to put in it I will tell you what you are looking for." People have been looking for something. They have been studying up problems but they need a lot of your help. I have here a proper speech which I will read, but before I get into that part of it, I want to say a few things regarding ideas which I have picked up in the show room this afternoon. First, wall exhibitions, 4-H Club. I think that you people who are in the rabbit business have got to work more and more with the boys and girls if you want to make this rabbit business a real business of the future. As the twig is bent so the tree will grow. The 4-H boys club and girls club have a great opportunity today to do a lot of good in the rabbit business, and you people representing the different cities and states in the country should talk to the boys and girls—RABBITS. It is a project which has been carried on in the city as well as outside the city or on the farm. Boys and girls are looking for something to do. I do not care whether the boy is in the city or not, if he can have some animal to care for and learn about nutrition and reproduction and care of animals, and the importance that goes with the care of same and serve him some of the fine meals which are never forgotten—these are the real boys for future citizenship, in this country.

I think the rabbit is a fine animal for the boys to work with and I know they will take care of this animal with interest. However, too many times you start the boy or girl with a project and then forget it, so keep in mind that the project must be a money maker. Just as soon as a project grows and gives no return, the interest is lost.

The second thing is also an idea I picked up in the show room this afternoon. I think people in the rabbit business in the next few years, will have even better opportunity than you have had thus far to promote this business, but you need to talk food for advance. The rabbit has been the salvation for many people in France. They really show what food value they have. We people must accept that idea and we must continue to advance it every day and in every possible way. We must convince the boys and girls that the animal has value for food. I think the food for advance ideas has wonderful possibilities.

I have prepared this speech as I wanted to prepare myself for this occasion.

As I view the rabbit business, it seems to me that it is somewhat in the condition of the poultry industry some 25 years ago. Too often it is a side line or hobby, with the result that there is not sufficient interest to make for best results. I do not mean by that that the average present day producer or fancier as he is too often called, is not interested, but he is not interested to the extent of pushing the business in the way a specialized branch must be pushed. If the rabbit industry is to grow and take its place in the field of production, then you people who are the sponsors must recognize your obligations. No business can continue or develop to the extent of attracting national attention as long as it is considered by the average person just a hobby. Rabbits must be recognized for what they are worth and they are worth to the average individual, just as much meat or so many cents per pelt.

I am told the cranberry people spend a higher per cent of their yearly return in advertising than is spent in any other industry. I have seen the figures stating that some 20 per cent of their yearly returns is used in advertising their product. The result has been that every one is now familiar with cranberries and cranberries have become an essential during the holiday season. The prime reason why so many talk and eat cranberries is simply because cranberries have been pushed by the people interested, the producers. When the producer of rabbits learn that their business can be promoted by intensive advertising and promotional work, then it is probable that the rabbit will come into national recognition.

Rabbit meat is a fine grained, nutritious and palatable food. In some sections the consumption of domestic rabbit meat has attained considerable proportion. In such areas the market is well established and the meat is available at local butcher shops. An excellent method of increasing the demand is to contact hotels, and restaurants and urge them to place rabbit meat on their regular menu.

Some three or four years ago a turkey grower living in southwestern Michigan visited one of the leading hotels in that section and sold them on the idea of serving turkey for Sunday dinners. A check of Sunday dinners served at that hotel shows that the turkey dinner has now become the most popular Sunday menu. Very few rabbit producers have made such an approach. In fact, if the approach was made and an interested party found it is doubtful whether a regular and steady supply could be obtained.

To you people interested in the business, I would say that you must attempt to repudiate many derogatory remarks which are made regarding your meat. You must talk longer and louder regarding the remarkable food quality, the low cost of producing a pound of gain and the possibilities of a production and income.

Some 20 years ago when I left another field of work and came to Michigan State College, my old friends often kidded me regarding the fact that I was going into the poultry business. People did not have too high regard for poultry and poultry products. Today, however, poultry is of national importance and ranks high in income of the agricultural industries. When I recently told friends that I was to attend this banquet and talk to you people regarding rabbits, the remarks were something like the remarks made 20 years ago regarding the poultry business. The average layman is not seriously considering rabbits as a source of food. They seldom know to what extent rabbit furs have been utilized. This, you must tell them. There is only one way and that will cost the promoter money, but you must advertise, stressing the importance of the fur and you must be able to meet the demand, once the advertising is under way.

Michigan State College has been interested in rabbit production, simply because I honestly feel that there is an opportunity for this type of animal and for additional supply of a very desirable type of meat. I believed this in 1929, when we started some research work at the Michigan State College. For the next three or four years, following 1929, considerable experimental work was done, mostly along the lines of nutrition. However, with the depression came a decrease in our budget with the result that today no rabbits are on experiment. The Michigan Rabbit Association has been interested in research work and have often discussed with me the possibility of having work re-continued. However, the state association has not been sufficiently strong so as to bring pressure on the administration of the college and no appropriation has been made for this line of research.

You people in the national association should take into yourselves the problem of calling attention to the college officials or other research workers, the need for special research work in your field. This research work should be along the lines of nutrition, diseases, breeds, breeding, furs and perhaps numerous other lines. If a department of rabbit production could be established at different institutions, it would do much to put the rabbit industry on a progressive and an acknowledged basis. We, who have done some work with rabbit nutrition, know that the cost of producing a pound of gain in young rabbits can be made at a very low cost. Our work between the years of 1929 and 1933 indicated definitely that rabbits should be killed and sold as meat before they are 12 weeks of age. We found that feed costs per pound of gain vary from a low of 6c cents to a high of 20c depending upon the feed and the length of the feeding or holding period. The cost per pound of gain increases rapidly after the rabbits are 12 weeks of age. We found that rabbits need a balanced ration just as much as do other lines of livestock (poultry, hogs, cattle, sheep etc.) We found that rabbits need protein and concentrates which

Good Will is an Important Factor to all of us

By MOLLY J. SMITH, A. R. & C. B. A. Director

How valuable is the good will of our fellow man, whether it be for us as individuals or as an institution. In a mood of satisfaction, as I write this message for the approaching New Year, I think of how valuable is the good will of those I have served in the past, and of the years of effort it has taken to merit it.

Good will is a priceless quality. Money cannot buy it. It's a vital business asset to be freely given when circumstances warrant. It is not to be possessed, however, without constant and painstaking care and a scrupulous regard for its requirements. It is bestowed only after long trial and most discriminating and analytical judgment, but may be withdrawn that very instant when its value is overlooked—forgotten or held too cheaply.

The hasty, ill-advised word, the momentary impatience, the careless, thoughtless action, neglect or an intolerant attitude—any or all of these may immediately destroy that wholesome relationship that it has taken years to establish. All rational men, if willing to make the effort, may earn good will. The wise ones will foster it as their most valuable possession, while the duller mortal is he who fails to appreciate its true worth as a fundamental of business success.

While ever and always as a result of being human, I (we all do judge, don't we?) will stand in judgment of my fellow men—always with compassion. I know that man is born of imperfection. To err is none other than the way of all flesh. What I am trying to do here is to point out that I know that this critter they call a human being is terrible. But at the same time he is my brother, and I am my brother's keeper.

Consolidating this down to our own American, one of the troubles I find is that we do not judge with compassion. Let's clarify this thought. Mr. A gets acquainted with a local rabbit breeder. He finds that the man is human, and let's put it to the extreme, that he of this 49 per cent failure in character is 49 per cent bad (yes, only 51 per cent good.) But because he knows better, he goes over to a community remote from his own and does business with another rabbit breeder that if the truth were known is 90 per cent bad. This also applies to social, neighborhood life.

I don't think the average man appreciates his blessings. Really, when you come down to it it is a privilege to belong to an association like the American, if we would all judge as we wish to be judged.

Therefore, I say, I start the New Year with a pledge to be forever guided in my business, my social and my civic contacts with the policy of serving society to the limit, so I can feel inspired that I have earned and cherished the good will of my fellow man.

CONVENTIONITIS

By HARRY G. HERRLEIN

As usual, one can report that our convention was enjoyed and was found very interesting. At least some of you who were able to put in an appearance returned home with plenty of food for thought while others may be sharing the post-convention feeling or "Conventionitis" with me. The cure doesn't require medication but it does require meditation and action.

If we are to accept the interpretation of the current situation as far as rabbits are concerned to be an indication that we, as a national association, are still wearing short pants, then somebody has slipped and is still slipping. And if we, a national organization with government recognition, are the backbone or nucleus of the industry, the responsibility rests squarely on the shoulders of each and every one of us.

A rough analysis or even a casual observation would reveal several weak spots. The purpose of our annual gatherings aside from exhibiting the results of our efforts during the preceding year and dispensing with the necessary business, should be to promote good fellowship, to share our experiences, advocate a constructive and sound program for further progress.

As a member of the American, we accept certain obligations and with the exception of adhering to the by-laws and the Standard of Perfection, we leave the rest to "George." Well, "George", in this instance seems to be the officers, directors and members of the our various committees. Let's not lose sight of the fact that the American is national in scope. There is only a handful of officers, directors and committee men who are expected to perform the almost impossible task which we as individual members should share with them if we are to fulfill our moral obligation. There is plenty of work ahead of us, if we ever expect to put the rabbit on the map permanently, and to me, the present day appears to be the golden opportunity.

A cross section of the membership of the American does not confirm the belief that it is a fanciers organization. This impression may prevail simply because conventions are attended in the majority by fanciers. Even if that were true, it should be gratifying to say the least, that we have a leaning post from whom we can draw foundation stock.

The efforts which we have exerted toward improving the quality are not to be criticized, but what has been done toward increasing the production, sales and earnings ? ? ? NOTHING—except the appointment of a marketing committee and a publicity effort in low gear. We can boast of stock yards for cattle, sheep and hogs and markets for poultry but do we have such disposal centers for RABBITS? Perhaps it would not be feasible to associate rabbits in the same category for the present at least. BUT if we are still in the first reader class it is time we thought about graduating and putting forth some sound and constructive efforts. And if the CONVENTIONITIS which some of us may have contracted since Fort Wayne will be accepted as a focal or point of beginning, then I should like to suggest the following:

1. That as members of the American, we suggest to our officers and directors the urgent need for a commercial department.

2. The creation of a committee on nutrition.

3. That a monthly bulletin be sent to each affiliated association, chartered local and 4-H club containing information and suggested programs toward the promotion, publicity and increase of sales, and to contain monthly reports from such affiliated locals throughout the country together with market reports and other information pertaining to sales activities.

The foregoing will no doubt involve additional expense to the American if we expect any of it to be effective, and the raising of funds should not become a barrier toward a constructive and progressive program. A membership drive, additional dues or possibility financial help from the government would be the answer, but that should be left to the officers and directors. Our concern should be to concentrate on ACTION and to boost the American.

Under Suggestion No. 1 to such a department would fall the task of proposing that each affiliated association, chartered local and 4-H club be looked upon as the recognized sub-department in their respective state, county or other territory and that as such a periodic report with regard to sales, prices, activities and surplus stock would be expected of them. Printed forms would simplify such a monthly census, inventory or report. In return, such sub-departments or locals would receive advertising and marketing material together with copies of reports from other locals in a monthly American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association bulletin. A monthly analysis by the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association commercial department would enable the latter to direct shipments of surplus stock to where shortages prevail, etc. The benefits and possibilities with regard to sales promotion by such a department appear endless.

Under Suggestion No. 2, a committee on nutrition would be expected to become and remain abreast of the latest developments in animal nutrition, especially with regard to rabbits and guinea pigs. To have at their disposal professional periodicals, abstracts and reprints for publication in an American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association bulletin. To become familiar with nutritional workers who are specializing in the use of rabbits for any physiological study or observation with any of the various vitamins or minerals. To accept as their objective THE INDISPUTABLE FINDINGS OF THE ACTUAL VITAMIN AND MINERAL REQUIREMENTS OF THE RABBIT AND GUINEA PIG and forever dispose of the confused state of knowledge, blind groping, unconfirmed statements and misleading suppositions. Too much emphasis cannot be stressed on this particular phase of our industry. Not until we are able to offer an intelligent interpretation of the DAILY MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS OF THE VARIOUS VITAMINS, FILTRATE AND THE OTHER FACTORS, MINERALS AND THE CORRECT RATIOS OF THE SAME, may we expect to improve the quality of domestic rabbits, increase their vitality and resistance and reduce mortality.

Under Suggestion No. 3, such other information not mentioned in the preceding suggestions as general activities in locals from coast to coast, queries and answers, etc., should be included.

While the foregoing may have become tiresome reading matter, the thought behind it all is to formulate something constructive and helpful to the members of the American so that the those who nurse the feeling that the American has done or is doing little or nothing, MAY FOREVER HOLD THEIR PEACE.

In conclusion should anything herein appeal to any of you, do not tell it to me but communicate with the officers and directors of the American and if necessary demand a special meeting before the next convention in order that a program may be set up for immediate action. The officers and directors need your help. Give them all the support you can and let's get ORGANIZED. P. S.: More next month.

Promotion of the American Rabbit Industry

Talk by Fran M. Bass at the A. R. & C. B. A. Convention
Held at Fort Wayne, Ind., November 24-29, 1941

F. M. BASS

It is with a deep feeling of appreciation that I come before you—not only do I appreciate this privilege, but I am inspired—you inspire me because I know you are the leaders of the American rabbit industry—an industry filled to the brim with the possibilities for growth, for production, and for building. When so much of the world is at war, destroying and tearing down physical, mental, spiritual values and, yes, even humanity itself—I'm thankful that here in America we have groups like you, the American rabbit industry, that are concerned in the building of a greater, brighter future for the days to come.

I speak to you tonight realizing full well the aims and objectives of the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association. I know that your aims are not only to develop better rabbits through standards and practices of breeding and of management, but also to promote and develop the industry itself.

We believe that meat is the foundation of the rabbit industry—that is the one market less subject to economic and scientific changes. With meat as a foundation, the wise breeder will not overlook the skin, fertilizer, breeding stock, and laboratory stock sales. These are all "gravy" or extra profit opportunities.

Many breeders believe that popularizing domestic rabbit meat falls almost within the realm of impossibility—many are discouraged. But they should not be. It is not so long ago that the poultry meat business was little more than a backyard industry, the turkey industry has only recently hit a "big time" stride. Most large industries have small and humble beginnings. Proof that domestic rabbit meat can be promoted and sold profitably can be had by talking to a few of the pioneers who are now in the business in a large-scale, commercial way. They'll tell you that the problem is not in selling rabbit meat, but in getting a dependable supply.

Thus the business of producing rabbit meat is divided into two major problems—getting an adequate supply and creating an active demand. Authorities claim that producing stock has greatly reduced the number of rabbits raised for meat purposes. This means that there is a need for getting more people interested in the raising of rabbits for meat use. The very nature of the rabbit business, the small amount of space needed, the small investment involved, the economy of the equipment needed all are factors favorable to getting more people interested on a backyard basis. If every breeder here would interest only three or four friends in the rabbit business and see to it that they were started right, it would be a big step forward in getting production up to a point where promotion and advertising could be effectively used.

Under methods to be used, comes that magic phrase "advertising." This is the business tool that sold the nation California oranges, made Idaho potatoes a national favorite, made Washington famous for its apples, and is now putting dairy products on America's table in ever-increasing amounts. All of these successes were accomplished through the co-operative efforts and contributions of the producers of these various products.

Domestic rabbit meat can also be "sold" to the American housewife. The first domestic rabbit is a discovery to the average housewife—she never dreamed that it had such fine flavor, that it was so tender, that there was so much meat for the money. The first sales problem is largely one of getting her to serve rabbit once—she'll buy again. While food value, protein content, vitamins, etc., are all important points in favor of domestic rabbit meat, it hardly seems necessary to stress them—one good rabbit sold once will sell many more.

An important phase of marketing and advertising is packaging. The whole rabbit carcass is unattractive, difficult to cut up for frying, and hard to handle. For that reason the cellophane window meat cartons introduced by Purina Mills have become increasingly popular. Recipe booklets showing ways to serve rabbit meat, newspaper advertising possibilities for the breeder, large or small. A very simple, but overlooked means of advertising is a rabbitry sign in front of the house or along the highway. Most of these sales aids are now offered free with the purchase of Rabbit Chow.

For leadership and united action, breeders should look to the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association. It is the only organized group representing the rabbit industry—it has the necessary set-up and machinery for originating, clearing and putting into effect promotion campaigns for the industry. But to be effective this organization must be strong in numbers and strong financially. It must represent the majority of the breeders in the country, not the few. This means that every rabbit breeder interested in the commercial development of the rabbit industry should belong to the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association, for it is the only organization now organized which can assume the leadership in this campaign. And in return for this support it should be the duty of the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association to secure the advice of leaders in the advertising and marketing fields to help work out concrete, practical plans for its members.

Professor Card of Michigan State University also told us tonight that our industry needs promotion and development and in order to help give our industry the kind of promotion and development that it needs, I am happy to tell you that Purina Mills is again sponsoring another National Rabbit Week for the industry to help each and every rabbit breeder wherever he is to sell rabbit meat and to sell breeding stock. The campaign this year is going to be even better than the one held last year.

I know that you as a leader of the rabbit industry, realize the importance of such promotion, and, therefore, I know that you will join hands with all of us in helping to build a greater industry through greater advertising and promotion for the years to come.

The 3 In 1 Hutch Company of Rochester, New York, says: "We are getting hundreds of inquiries and many orders every month from SMALL STOCK MAGAZINE."

National Rabbit Dinner Week to be Bigger and Better this Year

Second Annual Week Set for March 1-8 by Purina Mills — Advertising Package Free

Last year the first National Rabbit Dinner Week was held April 1-8 and great strides were made toward creating interest in domestic rabbit meat as a food and in the breeding and raising of rabbits as a business. During this week more than 2,000 breeders used the special advertising package, many local associations did special promotion work, and many newspapers the country over ran publicity articles on domestic rabbit meat for the first time. In a follow-up national survey of rabbit breeders, 77 per cent of those replying stated that National Rabbit Dinner Week definitely increased interest in domestic rabbit in their cities and towns. This was progress—a beginning—but this is the year to do the job in a bigger and better way. The date has been set earlier this year to avoid completion with Easter activities and the Easter Bunny idea.

New Plans Announced

Plans for the second National Rabbit Dinner Week are announced in this issue by Purina Mills, who will again sponsor and finance the promotion. This week set for March 1-8 is based upon a plan of advertising to be used by breeders individually, or for local clubs to use in promoting this week in their communities. The purpose of the week is to put domestic rabbit meat before the public in an even greater way than ever before, and to get as many people as possible to have at least one rabbit dinner during this week. All of the emphasis is again being placed upon rabbit meat, because leaders in the industry agree that meat is the only sound foundation upon which the rabbit industry can grow and prosper. It is just natural that increased activity in rabbit meat will be reflected in growth of all other phases of the industry—especially the sale of breeding stock.

National Rabbit Dinner Week is being sponsored by Purina Mills to tie in with the promotion plans of the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association. It is an extra push that will benefit the whole industry and each individual breeder in proportion to the effort extended to make it a success.

A Concentrated Advertising Plan

Each year more and more breeders come to realize that it is going to take advertising and lots of it to put domestic rabbit meat in its rightful place on the American dinner table. This is not only true of domestic rabbit meat—it has been true in the case of most popular products. It takes advertising, sales promotion, and cooperation to put a product across with the buying public. Right today, you and the other rabbit breeders in the country are producing a good food product that's begging to be sold—domestic rabbit meat!

Purina Mills believes that by starting to advertise rabbit, the industry will gain a reputation for being progressive and wide awake. Demand for domestic rabbit meat will be slowly, but steadily increased and soon new breeders will be attracted to this growing industry.

National Rabbit Dinner Week is basically an advertising plan that will help you put on a concentrated campaign right in your home town. If breeders all over the country will do a good job locally, the national effect of the program will be well worth while and a project of considerable force.

1942 Advertising Package Package Free

Because Purina Mills wants as many breeders as possible to put one of these big advertising packages to work they are offering every breeder one package absolutely free. That means just what it says—no charge, no sales slips, no bag coupons—just send the coupon from the Purina ad in this issue of SMALL STOCK MAGAZINE and get your package.

During National Rabbit Dinner Week, March 1-8, you should do all you can to publicize domestic rabbit in your home. Advertise—talk domestic rabbit meat to your many friends, get your local butcher shops or neighborhood markets to feature your rabbits. That's not a small job—and that's why Purina Mills again comes to the front to help you—in many ways, Purina is acting as an advertising agency furnishing you material and plans for putting on your campaign.

New Material Offered

The 1942 package will contain the following new material featuring National Rabbit Dinner Week.

25 Doorknob Hanging Cards: Just the thing to slip over the doorknobs of all the houses in your neighborhood—this is an attractive, colorful card that contains recipes for serving rabbit meat and a sales story; also a return card for the housewife to send to you to order a rabbit.

25 Mailing Postcards: This is a postcard to mail to the same housewives as a follow-up to the doorknob hanger. Invites them to try one of your rabbits during National Rabbit Dinner Week. Space for you to stamp or write your name, address and phone number.

2 Rabbit Week Posters: Two very bright colored posters for you to put up in butcher shops or markets that sell your domestic rabbits. Get these posters up—they will help you sell more rabbits—and tell more people that domestic rabbit is really a delicious food.

2 Windshield Stickers: For your car, the official emblem of the 1942 National Rabbit Dinner Week. Says "Serve Domestic Rabbit"—an ad wherever you drive your car.

Suggested Newspaper Ads: If there are several breeders in your town, you might cooperate by sharing the expense of a small newspaper ad during National Rabbit Dinner Week. The package includes some sample ads to follow.

A complete plan for using this material is also included to help you get the most good out of this promotion.

The job was started last year—follow through again this year and do a bigger and better job. Of course National Rabbit Dinner Week won't do the complete job of putting domestic rabbit on the map. It's a big step in the right direction—and what good you get out of it will depend largely on what you do to make it work in your own town or community.

Remember the dates—March 1-8, 1942. Begin planning now! The rabbit department and the promotion department of Purina Mills will be glad to do anything possible to help you individually or your local association with plans for National Rabbit Dinner Week. For more information, write to Rabbit Department, Purina Mills, St. Louis, Mo.

FEEDING ANGORA RABBITS

By C. ABBEY

The Angora rabbit breeders of today has many problems, some of which are being solved. With the question of good markets answered I believe the next most important problem before the Angora breeder is feeding and feeds to use.

If we wish to continue as Angora rabbit raisers and commercial wool growers we must grow and market wool at a profit. With the present cost of grain we are going to have tough going unless we study the problem and feed the ration that will produce the most wool at the least cost.

What then is the cheapest feed that still is a good feed? Whole grain is the answer. At the present time in California barley costs $2 per 100, wheat $2.20, milo $1.80 and gyp corn $1.70. (Price quotations obtained at the local supply house in 100 pound lots). Yes, these prices are quite high, judged by normal time standards. These are not normal times though and whole grain is the cheapest feed that can be bought.

The U. S. Rabbit Experimental Station at Fontana, Calif., has been studying feeds and the feeding problem for years. They find that meat rabbits thrive best on whole grains. A protein supplement must be added to the grain ration as rabbit milk contains more protein than any other milk.

Over a year ago I started to feed my Angoras this feed as recommended by the experiment station.

The first thing I noticed was that I did not have any more trouble with wool block. I used the following mixture: 2 parts whole barley, 2 parts milo and 1 part soybean meal pellets. I feed 1½ oz. of this mixture each morning. I also keep alfalfa before the woolers at all times. In a few weeks I noticed they were getting fat so I reduced the ration to one ounce each morning. I use one-half ounce whiskey glass for measuring the grain. My bunnies thrived on this feed and the wool increased in yield all summer. This fall, though, I increased the grain allowance to 1½ oz. because of cooler weather.

What has this feed to do with growing wool? You may ask this. Wool is almost all protein and a large amount of protein in the feed produces more wool. Is this feed cheaper as well as a better feed? Let us mix a batch and compare. At present with barley $2 a hundred I would use wheat as there is less fibre in wheat.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY LIVESTOCK INSPECTOR REPORT FOR 1941

I am indebted to Dr. L. M. Hurt, Los Angeles county livestock inspector, for a copy of the annual report of his department. I wish to pass on to the readers of this department the report on rabbits as given by the county livestock inspector, Doctor Hurt.

The valuation of the rabbits produced in Los Angeles county, for 1940 is $1,308,750. Rabbit production ranks fourth in livestock production in the county. The report shows there to be 200,000 breeding rabbits with a value of $287,500. This gives you an idea of the size of the rabbit industry in Los Angeles county alone, that does not come from one of the enthusiastic breeders out here.

The report goes on to say: "The fur industry in this area has enjoyed a favorable year. The general health of the various animals has been good, feed prices average, and pelts higher than for several years. We have encountered the usual run of diseases and conditions but here has been a marked freedom from serious infectious diseases.

The most important diseases encountered among rabbits have been mucoid enteritis, intestinal coccidiosis and infectious colds or snuffles. Unfortunately little has been added to our knowledge this past year concerning the cause or treatment of Mucoid Enteritis or so-called bloat. The condition is very common among rabbits of fryer age, but has also been diagnosed frequently among rabbits soon after kindling. Although considered to belong in the category of nutritional disorders it occurs under a wide range of feeding and management practices. We have suggested the daily feeding of fresh greens, together with some slight alterations in the diet which has been used. This procedure has apparently been successful in many instances.

Outbreaks of intestinal coccidiosis have occurred more often in rabbit herds whose owners lack the fundamental concerning this disease. The maintenance of too large numbers of young stock within a given space and the use of equipment which cannot be properly cleaned are the chief contributing causes.

Snuffles or infectious colds appear to be very common among our rabbit herds. Many producers have learned through frequent culling and proper management to keep the infection below the point of becoming a serious economic factor. Others treat affected animals over long periods of time without apparent success. Recently sulphathiazole, one of the new sulpho-namid compound drugs, has been used in the treatment of an acute case of pneumonia in a mature New Zealand doe in our laboratory. Acute symptoms were alleviated in 36 hours and recovery occurred within a week. As this was the only instance in which we have attempted use of this drug, this case must be considered only as an indicator.

Further studies have been made on the head down disease. It had previously been observed that additional amounts of fresh greens assisted the recovery of affected animals. This past year a number of typical cases have been given daily doses of 5 cc, concentrated vitamin A oil for a period of ten days. Recovery has resulted in all instances. In a few cases where the animals were too weak to eat or drink, favorable results followed intravenous injections of dextrose and saline solutions. Our experience with this condition seems to substantiate the belief that succulent greens should form a large portion of the rabbit diet than is commonly practiced.

For the past two years we have been experimenting with a mercurous ointment in the treatment of vent disease of domestic rabbits. This disease is caused by a spirochete, Treponema cuniculi. Over 1,000 rabbits of all breeds have been successfully treated.

Ringworm: a fungus disease of the skin, has been diagnosed in a few instances. In most of the cases infected cats or rodents are believed to be the source of the infection. These animals should not have free access to rabbitries. The use of especially prepared solutions of mercury and of sulphurous acid has been followed by marked improvement in the few cases thus treated.

Let us take each one of the diseases that Doctor Hurt has mentioned and look at them from a layman's viewpoint. I have never saw any rabbit disease that has caused so much trouble as mucoid enteritis or plain old bloat. It will start without any apparent reason and leave the same way. It will not start by using some one kind of feed, at the experimental station they are unable to make it start, even by feeding it mouldy hay, sour greens and whatnot. They can't stop it either. Breeders out here have found by watching the droppings closely, and as soon as the droppings begin to get small, take the feed away, also the water, as the rabbit seems to become feverish and will drink extra water. If the rabbit will eat at all put them on a carrot diet. This bloat is the big problem that is facing the rabbit breeders today.

Coccidiosis is so little known to the average rabbit man that any cure is way over his head. Personally I think the use of the torch is the best way to get away from it entirely.

Snuffles: Too many rabbit men get snuffles and a plain old cold mixed up. I have not seen a case of the real old snuffles in years, but I do see a case of cold now and then. For a cold use a mixture of 1 ounce of 10 per cent solution of Argylol and 1 ounce mercurochrome put this in a 2-ounce bottle and shake well to mix. Put three drops in each eye. This is a remedy that has worked for me very successfully. This will not help the real old Snuffles.

The head down disease is a new one, a field man tells me he has never seen a rabbit die with it. The rabbit holds its head down between its front legs and does not seem to have the strength to raise it. This field man says "If you hold the rabbit up where it can drink and eat it will come out of it. What causes it? We don't know."

For vent disease use equal parts of Calomel and Wool fat. Rub this mixture in well. When we say well we mean rub until all scabs and foreign material is removed. Yes, rub until the blood comes to the surface. Those who have used this remedy say it can't be beat.

For Ringworm some use Camphorated oil, some use sulphur ointment, but I would try the same ointment as used for vent disease.

We have investigated a peculiar pathological lesion observed in livers of rabbits. It presents the appearance irregularly shaped pieces of thread just below the surface. Affected rabbits are usually normal in other respects. The condition is readily transmitted to the young rabbits by feeding pieces of liver containing these lesions. Cultures from affected areas grow readily on special media and have been identified as belonging to the Actinomyces, group, therefore, classifying it as a type of disease caused by a fungus. Rabbit producers and butchers frequently confuse these lesions with the type of coccidiosis affecting livers and caused by Eimeria stiedae, commonly termed spotted liver.

One outbreak of Myxomatosis with heavy losses in a rabbitry was quickly cleared up, and further spread to other rabbitries, prevented by the use of rigid mosquito control.

All of the foregoing was taken from the annual report of the Los Angeles county livestock department. On behalf of the breeders of Los Angeles county, I wish to thank Dr. L. M. Hurt and his able staff of assistants for such a splendid report. The entire report shows progress in the ever ending fight for disease control.

To you readers from outside the state of California I will add a layman's opinion to these diseases that the above report has covered. Understand this is not my own personal opinion, but is the opinion of the leading rabbit breeders and field men for the feed mills here in southern California. Mucoid Enteritis or bloat, has been the fly in the soup so to speak, for the past 10 years.

On behalf of the rabbit breeders of Los Angeles county I wish to thank Dr. L. M. Hurt, for the very splendid cooperation his office has given the rabbit breeders this past year. We are not unmindful that the rapid growth of our industry is demanding more and more from the livestock inspector. We hope our relations will be as pleasant in 1942 as they have been in 1941.

To the readers of this department I extend to you the season's best and hope your New Year will be the best you have ever had. If plans develop there will only be two more issues in which this department will appear under my editorship. I hope as a reader you have derived some little good from what I have written for you. If in the future I can ever be of any help to any of the many readers of SMALL STOCK MAGAZINE I will only be too glad to do so.

E. W. Murray.

"RABBIT DINNER WEEK INCREASED INTEREST IN RABBIT MEAT..."

...Say 77% of Breeders Interviewed in National Survey

READ THESE COMMENTS FROM LEADERS IN THE INDUSTRY

"I think that National Rabbit Dinner Week is one of the greatest things done to promote our industry. For this we should thank Purina Mills for their support."

Dale Heiny
Anderson, Indiana

"National Rabbit Dinner Week is the longest step in the right direction that has been made in the promotion of our industry in the past decade."

J. E. Holtzinger
Altoona, Pennsylvania

"I am glad to see the 'National Rabbit Dinner Week' promotion for rabbit meat because I know it will result in increased interest in the rabbit industry as a whole. As people become rabbit conscious it will benefit both the meat and Angora wool interests."

C. W. Orr
Palmer Lake, Colorado

"As a quantity buyer of meat rabbits the year 'round, we like to receive rabbits raised on Purina Rabbit Chow, and are pleased with the advertising efforts of Purina Mills. Sure is a step in the right direction."

H. D. Zingelman
South Euclid, Ohio

"I feel that 'National Rabbit Dinner Week' is the best move yet to put the rabbit in its rightful position with other popular meats. The sooner more breeders recognize the value of promotion—the bigger the industry will grow."

Max R. Andrews
Fort Wayne, Indiana

"National Rabbit Dinner Week has done more to acquaint the public with the value of rabbit meat as a food than any other one thing."

C. N. Farley
Sedalia, Missouri

Last year Purina Mills sponsored "National Rabbit Dinner Week" for the first time. As proof of the results, we have a big scrapbook full of letters from breeders, and newspaper clippings from all over the country. But best of all, in an independent nation-wide survey, 77% of all the rabbit breeders interviewed said that "National Rabbit Dinner Week" definitely increased interest in Domestic Rabbit Meat. That's the job these "National Rabbit Dinner Week" promotions are built to do!

Purina Mills is sponsoring this week again in 1942 because Purina believes in the rabbit industry, because Purina knows you need help in making folks in your community rabbit conscious. Domestic rabbit meat is a fine product—folks just need to be told about it.

Let's make another big step forward this year. Purina Mills invites you to join hands in this effort to put domestic rabbit meat on the map in your town—and in towns clear across the nation. Purina invites your cooperation in putting "National Rabbit Dinner Week" across.

THIS NEW BOOK WILL HELP YOU PLAN YOUR CAMPAIGN for "NATIONAL RABBIT DINNER WEEK"

All questions to be answered in this department must be sent to Helen M. Knickrehm, 1313 West 97th St., Los Angeles, Cal.

Any questions concerning diseases and the like are given correct cooperation of the United States Department of the Interior, Fish and Wildlife Service.

Have had many inquiries regarding what and how to administer worm medicine to a rabbit?

Doctor Vail answers this by saying: According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture Farmer's Bulletin 1568, "Rabbit Parasites and Diseases," worm medicine may be administered to rabbits by the month. Recommended treatment is oil of chenopodium 0.15 cubic centimeters per kilogram (2, 2 lb. per bodyweight), followed immediately by 10 to 15 centimeters of castor oil by mouth. It is advisable to fast the rabbits 12 to 14 hours before treatment. The oil of chenopodium should be given in a small gelatin capsule.

Old-timers tell us they use a cigarette of tobacco mixed with a ground carrot, and fed to your rabbits, will clean out worms, this you understand is not a recommendation, merely a pass along. It would be my opinion to be very sure your rabbits had worms, before you tried any worm medicine.

So very often I have the question asked me what is the scaly appearance of dandruff on my rabbits skin or pelt?

This is a form of ringworm on the skin, and we have the following prescription passed along to us.

Sulphurous acid 15 cc.

q s a. d 60 cc.

Apply locally to affected parts twice daily.

This prescription can be filled by your local druggist.

In answer to many questions if there is a medical treatment for coccidiosis, I have been informed by various doctors, there is no medical treatment of any value for coccidiosis of rabbits. Prevention by strict sanitation seems to be the only successful means of controlling the spread of these internal parasites.

AS I VIEW RABBIT BUSINESS

has been sadly neglected up to that time. We found that mineral in the ration was essential. We learned that vitamins were just as essential to proper rabbit development as to proper poultry development. Since that time, many commercial concerns have placed on the market, well balanced mash mixtures which have been of great benefit to the rabbit producers. However, as yet, the average individual thinks that rabbits can live and develop on alfalfa hay and oats. You people who are definitely interested in this field of animal production must take the initiative and make demand.

You must also stress the importance of certain breeds for certain purposes. I doubt if any industry can last over a long period of time and grow, if they play host to a great number of breeds. The dairy industry has been very progressive and probably one of the real reasons is that there are only four or five breeds of dairy cows. The hog business has advanced rapidly but only a few breeds are recognized. The same can be said of beef cattle. On the other hand, there are 128 different varieties of poultry but today only about a half dozen of these many varieties have proved themselves and the others are in the same condition or worse than they were some 25 years ago. What has made the advances for the same half dozen breeds? Simply the attention given to them by the breeders as to egg production, meat qualities, etc. In other words, the production characteristics of the animal.

You people in the rabbit business have some breeds of rabbits that have unusual qualities for meat and fur. I think that you should place emphasis on these breeds and I know how hard it is for some fancier to give up special hobbies. However, hobbies seldom make long time profits. Please, do not misunderstand me. I am not trying to be too critical. I am trying to be helpful in pointing out to you what I believe to be the needs in this field. Progress can't be made when one becomes too much sold on one particular idea or theory. Progress can only be made when we meet it with an open mind and I am of the opinion that the people of the rabbit industry are at the stage where they desire to promote and make of commercial importance, the rabbit.

The United States Department of Agriculture has attempted to promote this industry and I hold in my hand a copy of the United States Department of Agriculture bulletin entitled No. 1730. Everyone interested in rabbit production should have a copy of this bulletin and the same may be obtained by writing the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Publications, Washington, D. C., or by writing directly to your congressman in Washington asking that he obtain and send the bulletin to you. A wide distribution of this bulletin will do much to promote the rabbit industry. It stresses many of the items which I have mentioned, such as nutrition, feeding, breeding, management practices, building hutches, furs, and the fine quality of rabbit meat. This bulletin was revised as of June, 1939. In October 1940, the U. S. Department of Interior under the series of leaflets entitled "Wildlife Leaflet No. 173," distributed the circular fryer rabbit production. Many copies of this bulletin could be distributed by you people and it would be of great value in promoting the use of rabbit meat. Other circulars distributed by this Division of the United States Department of Agriculture have to do with principles of breeding, self feeding system of rabbits, sanitation and domestic rabbitries, etc.

So in conclusion, let me say that I recognize the possibilities of rabbit production. However, your industry will never be placed on a sound economic basis until you who are the producers become interested to the extent of financing the business. The poultry business has been greatly advanced during the past two or three years by the organization of the poultry and egg national board. More advertising has been done on poultry and poultry products, stressing the uses of eggs, the cooking of poultry, the caring of poultry products than ever before. However, this national board is spending a lot of poultry money. Your national association is in a position to do a similar work, if you producers would stand by them and advertise. Just think what the national rabbit association could do if they could place thousands of circulars, stressing the importance and values of rabbit meat, into the hands of possible consumers. If we could get people to ask for rabbit meat when they go to the butcher shop, then the butcher would eventually supply the demand. He would do this by asking different individuals for the rabbits. He would tell them what he could pay and why the demand was made. Advertising and promotional work will bring to the U. S. a new meat supply which cannot be challenged as to economy of production or food value.

FEEDING ANGORAS

200 lbs. wheat at $2.20	-----	$ 4.40
200 lbs. milo at $1.80	-----	3.60
100 lbs. Soy meal or Peanut meal pellets
at $3.10	-----	3.10

Total for 500 lbs. ----- $11.10

In order to compare prices with today's other popular whole feeds, we will have to call this grain 40 per cent of the mixture and add 60 per cent alfalfa.

If 500 pounds equals 40 per cent then 100 per cent equals 1,250 pounds. Therefore we add the difference of 750 pounds in alfalfa.

The grain mixture costs $11.10 and the alfalfa $7.50 (at $20 per ton). Add this together and divide by 12½ we get the cost per hundred—a little less than $1.50. A year ago this figure was $1.12½ for my rabbitry, using barley and wheat in the mixture. Not cheap you might say, but still the cheapest quality feed to use.

The grains, barley, wheat, milo, gyp corn and oats are interchangeable. Use the cheapest grains in your mixture. I always use two grains with the protein supplement. For woolers 4 parts grain and 1 part protein pellets. For mothers, 2 parts grain and 1 part protein pellets.

I might add that for mothers I make one part of the grain barley so it will be easier for the little fellows to eat.

Some one might ask: What about all the minerals a rabbit needs? In answer I might say, all the minerals a rabbit needs will be found in a good grade of green leafy alfalfa, except salt. I hang a small block of salt in each hutch.

One might experience a little trouble finding pelleted soybeans or peanut meal in the west at present. These pellets can be bought in the Los Angeles district. I have found a supply in the north, the north.

The Angora wool grower has come into his own during the past year. If he is wise and works hard he will keep his markets and business in the future.

Articles, discussions of various breeds and cuts of your favorite stock are welcome to this department.

Material to appear in this department should be signed and sent to Judge Fehr, 1302 Woodlawn, Indianapolis, Ind.

Judge John C. Fehr, Editor

The convention is now over and no doubt there will be many arguments and discussions in this issue.

Personally I am only interested in the progress of the American and the American rabbit industry. In my department during the past two or three months I have expressed my personal opinion, far be it from me to try to be a dictator, but from the drift of opinions and from what has been said and done by circular letters I feel it my duty to inform all members and non members just exactly how I stand.

I contend that Resolution No. 14 is unconstitutional (my opinion only). I have written all directors asking them to express their opinions. Have heard from 8 out of 13. Let me make this plain, you have elected me president of your association, according to our present constitution. I am also chairman of the board of directors. As president and chairman of the board of directors I propose to appoint a committee on constitution along with this committee also I have engaged an attorney. We propose to go over our present constitution and by-laws and see that they are legal and do not conflict with any resolutions that have been passed in the past. I do not propose to take any undue authority, so I ask all members to send in their suggestions and recommendations. This committee that I shall appoint along with an attorney will go over our constitution and by laws. The action of this committee will be made public or sent to all board members, they to suggest changes and recommendations. After receiving these suggestions and changes the committee will again meet, then when the board members and our committee have agreed, the whole proposition will be submitted to the membership for their approval or rejection. I understand that a movement is on foot to call a special meeting of the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association. To do this 100 members in good standing must sign the petition. When this committee requests this special meeting I shall expect names of each one and shall also expect 25 per cent of them to guarantee that they will attend this special meeting so that we shall have a quorum. If some of the members and officers of the American would work one-half as hard between conventions as they do during the two or three days that they attend our convention we would probably get some place.

In my opinion this special American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association meeting is waste of time and money and I hope the membership will have confidence in me so that they will not approve of this move for I assure you all that everything will be done to settle these matters in a legal manner, and I also assure you that each and every member will have a voice in this matter.

This is no time to start trouble for the breeders at large now have a better opportunity of really putting rabbits in the map than ever before. We now have a little money in the treasury, but let's use it to promote our industry and our association.

In conclusion let me thank the various committees and the members for their loyal support and I assure you that my sole purpose is in again heading your association is to see it grow and prosper. More next month.

very enthusiastic group of 4-H members at every judging session.

It has been said that with a mail ballot we would not have anything to do at the convention. This past convention showed very conclusively that there was plenty to do. Every business session of the American was packed full and in some cases discussion had to be cut short for lack of time.

The judges conference had to suffer again this year. One afternoon was devoted to this work and only about half of the breeds were gone over as originally outlined. There should be at least a full day devoted to the judges conference at future conventions and we believe the time will come when the breeders and exhibitors will demand that more time be given to this important subject.

Gus Rutz as usual gave a bang-up job as superintendent and working against odds had a fine show with proper judging tables and plenty of room for the judges. The only bad feature was that the entries were so much larger than anticipated that a good part of the show had to be double decked. This was no fault of the management as they were occupying the largest building available and was one of those things that could not be avoided.

Doctor Andrews, Emil Voigt and a score of others were working hard all the time to make things move swiftly and we can truthfully say that this convention and show went off without a hitch.

So, running true to form the Ft.

Wayne club aided and abetted by that livewire Ladies Auxillary, scored again. There is no argument about it. So once more Ft. Wayne, we take off our hats to you, and say: "More power to you!"

Speaking of the ladies, with all the entertainment they had provided for the guests, the only possible way you could attend all their activities was to be twins—but we enjoyed every minute.

Several times during the convention we heard the question asked: "Is Doctor Hart a medical doctor or dentist?" We think there is no doubt in the mind of anyone who attended the farewell party that Doctor Hart's shingle reads: Russel T. Hart, M. D.

Is Mrs. John C. Fehr (Minnie to Mrs. Lewis Doerr) the lucky lady what with winning a prize at the bridge party—didn't she carry home an electric clock and stainless steel chicken fryer from the convention benefit.

It all happened one morning in the Coffee Shop at Hotel Anthony.

The Bill Prescotts with their livewire son and daughter were having breakfast as was Gust Foerster who sat at the next table.

Gust was explaining at length about an Angora he had judged the day before as only a judge can who has seen a wonderful specimen. Said Gust: "Why this Angora had the same length fur from the tip of its tail to the tip of its ears"—That's as far as he got in his vivid description for in chimed little Barbara Ann Prescott (three years old: "Dash away, dash away, dash away all."

Of small consequence to her that Gust was talking about a rabbit, for only the night before little Barbara Ann had seen a beautiful electrically lighted Santa with his prancing reindeers and what was a mere rabbit compared with that.

Anyway that was the end of the story and Barbara Ann scored one up on Gust.

National Polish Federation

By Ferd C. Dunkelberg, Sec'y-Treas.
618 Park Ave., Pekin, Ill.

We had a nice showing of Polish at the Fort Wayne convention show although I had expected to see a larger showing. However, while the Polish were few in number, those shown at the convention were of very good quality and nice specimens. There were, however, no Blue-Eyed White, Black, or Chocolate Polish shown at the show. There were 26 White Polish shown at the convention. Ed Lallak, of Fort Wayne, Ind., had best Polish, which was a senior buck and Art Nelson, of Colorado Springs, Colo., had best opposite sex Polish which was a junior doe.

The annual meeting of the Federation was held on Friday, November 28, 1941, and although not many members of the Federation were present, those of us who were enjoyed a very nice meeting. At this meeting it was decided to raise funds for a suitable trophy to be called the "1942 Challenge Trophy." This trophy is to be competed for during the calendar year 1942 on points won by exhibitors at five shows to be held during the calendar year 1942. One of the shows is to be the 1942 convention show and another is to be the convention show of the Eastern Rabbit & Cavy Fanciers Association, this leaves three shows to be selected. The breeder having the most points at these five shows will win the trophy. All Polish breeders bear in mind that this leaves three shows to be selected as National Polish Shows at which this trophy will be competed for.

Urge your show secretaries to communicate with the National Polish Federation secretary and try to arrange to have your show counted on the Polish trophy. There should be somewhat keen competition to become one of the Polish shows for the year 1942 as there only three shows which will be open for this competition in addition to the two convention shows. The trophy that we will offer will depend entirely upon the funds which we collect from the Polish members to provide for the same. However we already secured funds to make it certain that the trophy will be a worthwhile prize and not just cheap junk. We already have in your secretary's hands the sum of $10 to apply towards the purchase of this trophy and we should have within a short time considerably more. I am therefore calling upon the Polish breeders to send in a contribution to the Polish Federation to help purchase our trophy and also asking the Polish breeders to get busy with your show secretary in projected shows so that the other three show dates will be filled up. The following persons have contributed so far to our trophy fund: Mr. R. T. Hart, Richard L. Hart, Loren's Rabbitry, Oscar Sennewald, El Inlak, James Blyth and EFF-DEE Rabbitry (Mr. and Mrs. Ferd C. Dunkelberg).

ROCKFORD, ILL.

The Winnebago County Rabbit & Fur Breeders Association had their election of officers at their regular meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Keiser in Rockford, Ill. This meeting was well represented as the members realize that the value of domestic rabbit is well coming to the front. Prices have advanced rapidly in this section, having taken the place of laboratory does as meat is higher now than prices paid for laboratory does.

We got some of the high lights of the national convention from Mrs. E. Christen of Freeport, who was at Fort Wayne and then also matters pertaining to the northern Illinois show circuit were discussed and taken under advisement.

We were honored by the presence of two of our members Elwin Kumein and Ralph Biessecker from Janesville, Wis. Elwin Kumein placed the awards at our recent table show December 7, 1941, assisted by Ted Wengert. There were 168 rabbits at this show and was very good stock. O. H. Anderson was show superintendent; M. Sandehn, assistant superintendent; J. J. Dzielak, secretary; yours truly gathering scandal for the next show.

Howard F. Keiser was elected president; Ted Wengert, vice president; O. H. Anderson, secretary-treasurer; M. Sandehn, chairman of board of directors; Frank Gilbert and Ronald, members of board of directors.

O. H. Anderson was the presiding officer with Ted Wengert, the secretary. Lunch was served after the meeting and in grand discussion by all.

CALIFORNIA ANGORA WOOL GROWERS, INC.

By William H. Webb, Secretary
Several members were absent from the December meeting, no doubt due to the fact that many of them have quite a distance to travel and did not want to take the chance of being caught out on the road in case of a black out for which no one can blame them. However, those who did come out enjoyed an interesting meeting.

Four amendments to the By-Laws were presented and discussed. They will be voted on at the next meeting. All members are urged to attend and vote on them. The amendments, as presented, are as follows:

Art. II, Sec. 3. The officers of president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer shall be elected from the board of directors by the members of the association at the annual meeting. The election of officers shall take place after the election of new directors. Officers shall hold office for one year.

Art. V, Sec. 2. Membership fee shall be five dollars ($5.00), good until revoked. Such fee may be paid in cash or deducted from wool turned into the association. No member will be considered in good standing until his membership fee is paid in full, or until enough wool has been turned in to cover payment in full.

Art. V, Sec. 3. Adoption of this amendment will strike out the words "showing date of expiration of his or her membership, and if said member does not thereafter pay the annual dues within 30 days after date of expiration, said membership automatically lapse and be cancelled."

Art. V, Sec. 7. Voting. Members in good standing, who have paid their membership fee in full, and who have shipped wool through this association at least once within the past six months, shall be entitled to vote. Two or more partners connected with one rabbitry shall each be entitled to vote only if each one has paid his membership fee in full and has shipped wool enough through this association in his own name or the name of the rabbitry at least once in the past six months. If only one membership fee is paid for a partnership of two or more, then one partner shall be named as a delegate to vote and the others shall be listed as alternates in the order they are to have the power to vote.

Those amendments will be discussed and voted on at the next regular meeting of the association, which should be January 9, 1942, providing the war lords do not object.

May we take this opportunity to again thank Florence Griffin for getting the by-laws mimeographed so that all members may have a new copy.

By now, we hope you have all had a Merry Christmas, and we extend our best wishes for a Happy, Prosperous and Peaceful New Year. Let's all get in and make this a bigger and better year for the Angora industry, as well as for the nation and those who defend it.

The next meeting will be, as usual, at 6814 S. Broadway, Los Angeles, Calif., January 9, 1942.

MIDWEST RABBIT AND CAVY CLUB

By Mrs. R. M. Smithson

The rabbit business in the Kansas City locality is still booming. We are still getting new members and expect 1942 to be a fine rabbit year. You have elected your club officers for 1942 but your duties do not end there. If you expect to have a real club you must attend meetings and give your support to any ideas that will better the rabbit industry.

The old-timers will remember the rabbit boom during World War One when any kind of rabbit would bring a good price. This time we must keep up our standard, sell good stock and tell the truth about them. A fortune cannot be made over night but a fair profit from each breeder is certain. We can raise our own furs and meat.

With the help of the A. R. & C. B. A. and the government are giving us there is no reason rabbits should not be in most of the homes. If you have any extra stock to dispose of just run a small ad in SMALL STOCK MAGAZINE. You will be surprised at the results you get.

We wish everyone a happy and prosperous new year and again we say talk rabbits at every opportunity and support your clubs and magazines.

"Keep 'em Flying!"

WICHITA, KAN.

Since our last report in SMALL STOCK MAGAZINE, the past two months have been busy ones for members of the Sunflower Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association.

Our last meeting in October was a rabbit dinner at Norris Stauffer's Sandy Beach Resort. The sunshine committee was in charge. Table decorations were in keeping with the Halloween season and there were favors for all. Thirty-two members were present and there were 15 visitors. At the business meeting which followed the dinner, eight guests turned in their application for membership. The social period which followed the business meeting was spent playing table polo, shuffleboard and other games with which the large recreation room was equipped.

November 15 and 16 our club entertained the delegates who met in Wichita to organize the Interstate Rabbit and Cavy show circuit association. At the Saturday evening session we were hosts at a Dutch lunch served in the Rose Room of the Hotel Broadview. Sunday the ladies of the club served a big dinner at our club room.

Those elected to represent the Sunflower Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association in the Interstate Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Show Circuit Association, are: C. E. Gustafson, who was elected president; and P. A. Richards, of Corbin, Kan., trustee.

At our last meeting we voted to accept the constitution and by laws which were drafted by the delegates present.

November the Sunshine committee entertained the club at a tacky party. A delicious lunch was served and everybody had a fine time.

Marion Stoner, authorized representative of our club at the National American Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association convention at Fort Wayne, Ind., gave us a splendid report at our meeting December 6. Mr. Stoner was one of the official judges at the convention and naturally those in the club who sent entries were impatient to hear of their winnings.

While it might appear that the past two months were devoted to social affairs, the club has been carrying on other activities. A committee is still working on plans for financing and publishing a club bulletin. It is hoped this can be done very shortly. We are interesting a number of new breeders and hope they will benefit from their membership in our club. We have not been able to meet the increased demand for meat and laboratory stock. Breeding stock sales have also reached a new high, with prices good. The Sunflower Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association is gradually gaining new members throughout the state and our membership now totals 62.

Rex Rabbit Federation

By Carl F. Schultz, Secretary-Treasurer
3592 Kimmel Road, Cleveland, Ohio

The A. R. & C. B. A. 1941 convention held at Fort Wayne, Ind., was one of the finest ever held. Close to 1,600 rabbits housed in a fine building, all meetings run off on schedule and a general spirit of good fellowship all around.

While the Rex entries did not come up to expectation, there were 130 beautiful animals on display. This was quite an increase over last year's entry at the convention. Castorrex led with 47 animals with the Lynxrex a close second with 42.

The Federation meeting held Thursday, November 27 was well attended and much serious discussion about the Rex problems were in order. Ed Stahl at this meeting announced that he is now a Rex breeder and promised to print a Rex news item in the bulletin he gets out each month. This will be fine publicity for our breed.

The results of the election of officers for the coming year is as follows: President, Mrs. P. F. Benedict, 23 (elected); J. E. Holtzinger, 14; Vice-president, Jack Storey, 25 (elected); Geo. Weisser, 12; director, 3-year-term, J. W. Smith, 27 (elected); F. Borkhardt, 9; one-year-term, Gus Siegmund, 28 (elected); Ed. Schoeberl, 9.

It is up to every Rex breeder to get behind the Federation's new officers and help them to put the Rex movement across. At our last accounting we have 80 members in good standing with all of the Federation's bills paid and a small balance in the treasury. We have made quite a bit of progress in the past year, so let's keep the ball a rolling and do better in 1942. Make 1942 the Rex year.

The American Chinchilla Rabbit Breeders Assn.

By C. N. Farley, Secretary-Treasurer
P. O. Box 382, Sedalia, Mo.

The nineteenth annual meeting of the American Chinchilla Rabbit Breeders Association was held in Fort Wayne, Ind., November 27, 1941. The meeting was called to order by President A. S. Gibbons. At the roll call the following members were present: A. S. Gibbons, R. C. Huggins and F. W. Severance, of Tennessee; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stallings, of Colorado; Bill Giles, of Virginia; Paulus Adams, Floyd Morrical and Claude Enslin, of Indiana; Floyd Swartz of Michigan; Edward H. Stahl, of New York; Marion Stoner, of Kansas; D. P. Law, of Oregon; S. H. Behler, of Texas; and C. N. Farley, of Missouri.

The minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with owing to the fact they were printed in the magazines right after our last meeting.

The report of the election commissioner was read and motion made and carried that it be accepted. The ballots showed that 104 of our members voted and all present officers and directors were re-elected.

The president appointed an auditing committee composed of R. C. Huggins and F. W. Severance to audit the books of the secretary-treasurer. Later reporting the books found to be okay.

Edw. H. Stahl called attention to the reading of our standard in regards to the "head" of Standard Chinchillas, which reads, "medium size, rather fine in does." He stated that if we breed for fine heads, we would also get long necks and narrow shoulders. A motion was then made and carried that we ask the standard committee to clarify this by having the standard read the same in regards to the "head" of Standard Chinchillas as it does for Heavyweight Chinchillas.

The president appointed a resolution committee composed of Paulus Adams, R. C. Huggins and Marion Stoner. And if any members has an idea that they think is for the good of our association, to present it to this committee. This also includes any change you think best in our constitution and by-laws.

Motion made and carried that the American Chinchilla Rabbit Breeders Association extend a standing vote of thanks to the Fort Wayne Club for allowing us to meet here.

Motion made and carried that we adjourn to meet next year at the same time and place of the A. R. & C. B. A. convention.

SILVER MARTEN SHOW

By J. F. Knewasser, Secretary
194 Matthews St., Binghamton, N. Y.

The show is looking better every day now with a hot old five spot coming from Dr. Gordon to help boost the old bucket of cash. By now you have had a merry Christmas as when Paul's letter for specials comes knocking at your door just dig down a little and loosen up.

Our local Checker Board Feed Store has given us the use of their display room for the show also feeding it to help the cost along.

Our new member John Jost, Jr., of St. Louis, Mo., asks that we help him make a good class of Martens at his show in March so come on western breeders and see what you can do for St. Louis, also you boys in the east are not barred either.

By now you will have the secretary's report and let's all get behind these fellows next year and boost Martens. We also want to thank SMALL STOCK MAGAZINE for the picture of the Silver Marten that they had on the cover page last month.

Don't forget and put these February 13, 14 and 15. Inclusive, dates down for the best all Marten show ever. Only a few have gave so far and the old bucket of cash is well over 30 dollars.

With the war on now it looks like it will be only a short time when yours truly will be called up to answer the colors as I am 1-A draftee over the 28 age limit waiting for congress to raise the age limits.

It seems like it was just yesterday we were hearing from our friend and member, J. W. Mounter, of England, and who knows maybe some of us will be seeing him over there in England before long.

So let's see some of those good Martens in Binghamton, N. Y., as this may be the last all Marten show for some time to come.

Champagne D'Argent Federation

By G. F. Lowell, Secretary, Sharon, Wis.

The Champagne D'Argent Federation annual meeting was called to order by President Griffin at Fort Wayne at 4 p. m. Thursday, November 27, 1941. Motion was made and carried to suspend reading of minutes of last regular meeting. Secretary's report was read. On motion was accepted.

Cash on hand October 1, 1940 ----- $13.60
Received for memberships ----- 36.75
Received for Registrations ----- 2.10

Total ----- $52.45
Paid out for stamps ----- $17.46

500 Envelopes ----- 3.00
500 Membership Cards ----- 3.50
Stencils, Paper, Envelopes ----- 2.00
100 Special Ribbons ----- 6.17

Total ----- $43.51

We also have a good supply of envelopes, ribbons, folders and membership cards. Secretary then gave a report on guide book which showed a profit of $11.00 which will be placed in the Treasury. A standing vote of thanks extended the secretary for the good work of putting out the guide book so successfully. After discussing the election ballots, it was moved and seconded that when only one person is nominated for president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer, it shall be so stated on election ballot. In case of a tie on the nomination ballot the secretary shall, with the approval of the president, select the names of the most active of those nominated to be placed on the election ballot. Motion carried.

In a lengthy discussion on the weight limit of juniors it was brought out that by careful selection in breeding, a compact Champagne weighing from 8 to 10 pounds at or near six months of age, can be produced. Therefore, why put a weight limit on juniors and spoil the standard. It was decided, that it would be much better to raise the weight limit on seniors. All Champagne breeders were asked to pay close attention to this, so that when 1944 rolls around, we will be in a better position to know what is the best thing to do. This will give all an opportunity to be prepared for any changes desired.

It was voted to allow members the use of the cut of the Champagne emblem in making ribbons, providing the do not use same for personal advertising. Mr. Hunt, who has had ribbons made from the cut presented 36 to the club to be used as we see fit. A motion was made and carried that the secretary write a letter of thanks to Mr. Hunt for same.

Due to recent illness Mr. Furrer sent his regrets that he was unable to attend the meeting. Mr. Mieras sent his regrets, that he was obliged to return home before the meeting.

It was moved and carried to extend to the Fort Wayne club a vote of thanks for its courtesy, during the convention. Meeting adjourned.

There were over 70 Champagnes at Fort Wayne and the quality was excellent and all had a very good even color. This is born out by the fact that the first six places were won by six different breeders.

LILAC SPECIALTY CLUB

By William S. Walters, Sec.-Treas. 1695 Parkman Rd. N. W., Warren, Ohio. I do not need to tell you that the National convention is over. But I can say that we had a good time at the show. My greatest pleasure was in meeting the members of the Lilac club.

The first member that I met was our president, Mack Rayle. He lost no time in making me acquainted with fellow rabbit breeders. I had the pleasure of meeting our club members, Dr. Edwards, Paul Stephens, Earl Reed, Manson Clark, Mrs. Jean Baxter, W. L. Stickles, John Smith, E. Schneider and Wilfred Gundy.

We held our first meeting Friday afternoon. Then sealed election ballots were opened and counted. The results were as follows: President, Mack Rayle; vice-president, Walter Webber; secretary-treasurer, W. S. Walters; directors, chairman, A. Remender, W. Gundy, L. James, H. Kimball and N. Alward.

The vice-president's office is not settled to date. Due to Mr. Webber who is undecided as to whether he can give that office his full support because he is connected with the 4-H club. So until I hear from Mr. Webber stating himself I cannot give you a report.

I will not try to give you a report of the club's meeting at this writing as space does not allow, but I promise you that I will mail out a copy to each member in the near future.

We had a very nice display of Lilacs, 10 senior bucks, 10 senior does, 9 junior does, 5 junior bucks. All of the special money was placed and I believe we have come a long ways in showing the public that we have a breed of rabbits that must and will be one of the top breeds.

Just remember. Let us not forget our special Lilac and sweepstake show at Bay City January 8, 9, 10 and 11. For every good Lilac showing puts us a step closer to the top. Also want to let you know that the Columbus, Ohio, show is in February and is a sweepstake show. Harry Kimball, of Columbus, is working hard to make this a successful Lilac show. So let us all give Mr. Kimball a little support and send in a few entries. Please do not forget our slogan, "Every Member a New Member."

HAVANA MEET AT THE OHIO STATE CIRCUIT CONVENTION

By Frank Ilawati, Sr., 3628 East 49th, Cleveland, Ohio

Here is some more good news for the Havana breeders. I am going to put on another Havana meet at the Ohio State Circuit Convention that is being sponsored by the Akron Rabbit Club March 6, 7 and 8 at Akron, Ohio. My last meet was at the Eastern Convention that was sponsored by the Greater Pittsburgh Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association last October. This seems to be my great hobby as I sure do and so do Havana breeders like to see a big show.

It is a pleasure to walk down line to see the big line-up of these little Chocolate soldiers. The best that I and many others have seen was at Elyria, Ohio, in 1940, 86 of them and what a good looking bunch that one ever laid his eyes on. This record is going to be hard to break unless we all get together and show all we can. We may be able to do it. But the biggest part is to have plenty of cash to shoot at so let's all support them by contributing towards the cash pot. Up to this time of getting this news typed I have $35 in the pot which is very small to have a big show of Havanas which you all know that. If any of you breeders have not mailed in your contribution do so at once as I have only to the thirteenth of this month to get my pot all set as it is the dead line. My aim is to reach $75 so I can give cash specials up to tenth place and that's something.

I also wish to state at this time that I want to thank all those who cast their votes my way as one of the board of directors. I am going to do all to bolster up our specialty club which I know can be done. We need members and we can get them if we go after them and if you do not know of any look at the show reports in SMALL STOCK MAGAZINE. Sure you will have to write to the show secretary to give the address of those Havana exhibitors which will gladly do so. I am also going to have something to say about our newly elected president, Alfred Emery of Elyria, Ohio. I have known him for many years and I do know he is going to do all he can to put the club where it belongs. Mr. Emery has held every office in his local club and did a swell job of it and you can look for him doing the same for us. Also will say he is very great in love with Havanas and we have also another member who was reelected, Walter Botamer, also of Elyria, Ohio, who has been breeding Havanas before my time. They are both pulling for me to put this meet of mine over with a bang. We have put the Havanas on the map in all the Ohio State Circuit Conventions and we hope to keep them on.

So come you members you can help by mailing me your small contribution to swell the pot and also show as many as you can. Do not keep them in your hutches, they belong in the show room to bring home the bacon for you in order for you to keep on showing them. They want to win for you so give them a chance and you may not regret it. Well, this is all the news for this time so watch for more news in the February issue.

ILLINOIS-INDIANA AMERICAN CHECKERED GIANT CLUB

By I. R. Holmes, Calumet City, Ill.

At our last meeting of Sunday, December 7, the following members were elected to office for the year 1942: Orest Bingini, president; I. R. Holmes, vice-president; Dewey Siger, treasurer; Art Schultz, secretary; directors, Louie Frese, R. C. Shoptaw, L. C. Wells, Leo Litzen, Frank Paymaster, Nick Migas, L. L. Biskie.

Our annual meeting and banquet will be held at 16-154th Place, Calumet City and the ladies are putting on the feed and all members and their families are urged to please come and have a good time. The date is January 3, at 7:30 in the evening.

A word about the convention—it was the best yet, and must say the Fort Wayne boys sure keep their word and must say that the women folks also did their share.

Sorry that there were not more Checkered Giants but I blame this to the fact that so many shows throughout the year that the breeders have their stock pretty well sorted by the convention time and therefore only show the very best.

Must say the members of the A. C. G. C. were the most active bunch of breeders at the convention. They were outspoken in their views and didn't hold any opinions back but brought them out at the meetings and due to that it was necessary to hold three sessions which was never done before in the history of the club.

The membership drive as reported by the secretary shows I. R. Holmes leading with 10; Orest Bingini, 6; L. C. Wells, 4; R. C. Bruce, 2; Art Schultz, 1; for a total of 23 new members this year.

Don't forget those pledges folks for the big Checkered show in May 1, 2 and 3. Due to the fact that only one judge has answered our inquiry it is yet impossible to announce the judge yet.

We now have $30 pledged. Let's see if we can have $60 by the next month.

So don't forget the big meeting and banquet. Bring the kids along as there will be plenty of rabbit and refreshments for all. So don't forget you have a date January 3.

American Beveren Club

By J. C. Henderson, Secretary 4222 25th Ave. So., Minneapolis, Minn.

We are proud of our name, the American Beveren Club since December 11, we should feel a new reverence for the word, "American." It means patriotism, loyalty self-sacrifice, and co-operation and our club members, who perhaps have not thought of it in this light, should strive somewhat harder to live up to the meaning of the word in its entire capacity.

Our newly elected officers for 1942: President, A. J. Foerster, Cleveland, Ohio; vice-president, Dr. Max Andrews, Fort Wayne, Indiana; secretary-treasurer, J. C. Henderson, Minneapolis, Minn. The board of directors is headed by W. H. Blair, Iowa; H. K. Furgeson, Washington; Mrs. Christen, Illinois; Howard Dore, Wisconsin; Carlodon Gaddis, Indiana; Donald Cleveland, Minnesota; and Dr. H. A. Clark, Ohio.

The convention show at Fort Wayne was a "honey" and with 35 Beverens on display gave us the best Beveren convention show we have had since the organization of the Beveren club. Let's have a hundred at the 1942 show.

Received a short letter from our vice-president, Dr. Andrews and will quote from it. "Very happy that the showing of Beverens was greater than at several past convention shows. I never want to be out of the Beveren organization at any time and will always support the Blue-Eyed baby of any show." Now listen, fellows and gals, when a rabbit man like Dr. Andrews makes a statement of that kind, you know he really means it and we are happy and proud that he is connected with our club in an official capacity.

Our resolution for 1942: More and better Beverens. Happy New year to all.

THE PUEBLO RABBIT AND CAVY CLUB

Mrs. A. L. Stallings, Secretary Pueblo, Colo.

We would like to take this opportunity to wish all our loyal show supporters and friends a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Our club has been having some very pleasant social club meetings recently. At our last meeting it was decided to have a turkey dinner and Christmas party December 22.

Monday, December 8, a group of our members attended the meeting at Colorado Springs. The meeting was in the form of a turkey dinner and country store, given in an effort to raise money for their coming show in January. It is needless to say we had all the turkey and trimmings we could eat. A very nice time was had by all.

Colorado Springs will appreciate your support of their coming show.

CINCINNATI RABBIT BREEDERS

At the annual election of officers of the Cincinnati Rabbit Breeders Association on December 16 the following officers were elected: Elmer Krieger, president; Dr. J. A. Conner, vice-president; F. H. Maxfield, secretary; Dr. H. T. Clark, treasurer. The following members were elected to board of directors for one year. Arthur Doepke, Dr. H. T. Clark, F. H. Maxfield, Dr. J. A. Conner and Clifford Moberly.

The new board of directors have many interesting and progressive projects for show, breeders and commercial industries for the rabbit breeders.

Eleven members of club attended the Fort Wayne convention.

National Federation of Flemish Giant Breeders

By Lewis S. J. Griffin, Secretary
The Flemish Federation convention was held November 27 at 10 a. m. in the Armory at Fort Wayne, Ind., with about 40 present. The governors present were: Holtzinger, Griffin, Andrews and Krajicek. Motion to dispense with reading of last convention minutes, as same had been published, carried. Chairman Holtzinger gave a short talk of welcome to the delegates as well as some very instructive suggestions as to future plans. Secretary Griffin gave a verbal report as to last year's work, as regular report will be given January 1, the end of our regular year. He stated the membership campaign had been successful also that the special Flemish issue of SMALL STOCK MAGAZINE had been very helpful and appreciated by all, also that the demand for Flemish at this time exceeded any previous time, especially for top grade stock at top prices.

A. R. & C. B. A. Resolution No. 12 that was submitted by Mile High Fanciers Association was read and after a lengthy discussion, it was moved by Oberdier and seconded by Dykhuizen that judging for grand champion remain as it now exists and that judges should not favor any color especially whites, but make decision on the best balanced animal, having proper type, bone and condition. Carried.

A rising vote of thanks was extended Dr. Andrews for his splendid support to the Flemish club and convention pot. Our standards in Flemish were discussed and everyone expressed satisfaction that not one request had been presented for any changes. This everyone felt was a high compliment to our standards and the discussion drifted to the improvement especially in color in Steels and Light Grays.

Keith Forbush was appointed by Chairman Holtzinger as publicity chairman, also the club went on record to support and do everything possible to advance the 4-H work in rabbits. Following this the members introduced themselves, so everyone would know every one else and all became better acquainted.

Motion that the Flemish Federation extend thanks to the Fort Wayne club and officers for such a splendid show and for a wonderful visit in their city, carried.

Motion that the Flemish Federation meet with the A. R. & C. B. A. in 1942 (time and place to be announced later, carried. The convention adjourned at 11:15 a. m. to allow other clubs to meet.

Just a few high lights on the Flemish show at Fort Wayne convention. It was my pleasure to be one of the Flemish Judges and to work with Vern Ashton, who really knows his Flemish. We both agreed a marked improvement was shown in colored Flemish, especially in color over other convention shows. First the Sandy Grays, led all others in number, 87 head and very fine specimens with a marked improvement in color. The Whites took second place with 76 head and some grand type with both bone and improvement. Steel Grays took third place with 30 odd head with body and stomach color far ahead of other recent years and it seemed like old times to get those real uniform Steels, through first senior buck was grand champion of excellent color, the best opposite sex went to the Steel doe that won Grand champion last year. This proves the Steels are on the improve and coming back fast. The Light Grays though few in number showed a great improvement in color. I can remember at Pittsburgh I could not tell what class I had as the Light Grays contained so much sand or brass color, but the surface color has been improved greatly, however, we must keep after under color for there is a great deal of brassy tinge in under color to be eliminated.

Fawns stepped up to fourth place, some very good type, but here our breeders are neglecting color for type, too much bars on front limbs also smut on head and hips and weak color on cheeks and around eyes and on limbs. The Blues and Blacks were very good and a marked improvement in Blues as to type and color in fact all colors showed improvement except Fawns over last two years. Another thing I noticed particularly and it's as it should be, the breeders are not so crazy about size but breeding for a balanced animal. Our weights in senior and 6-8 ran from 13 to 19½ pounds with majority 15 to 17 pounds, very few big paunches also few crooked legs and most noticeable was the lack of flat rumps and torpedo hips. This proves our breeders are really selecting balanced breeders and getting proper results. Some of the special winnings as follows: Dr. Rogers won the $52.00 chest of Rogers silverware for six animals with most points also best display, Holtzinger second display, Nearhoof grand to get those real uniform Steels, the champion and Holtzinger best opposite sex, Nearhoof best Steel, Andrews best Sandy, Holtzinger best Blue, Linnicott best Light Gray, Coons best Fawn, Seldon best Black, Kneeler best White, Krajicek best junior, Holtzinger best 6-8, Baldwin longest distance, Oberdier, the heaviest Flemish, 19½ pounds, other awards will follow elsewhere.

It was a grand show, Rutz did a splendid job as superintendent as did Voigt as secretary and Dr. Andrews was every where and every place at the right time a good president should be. All other members and officers can not be given credit enough for a swell job. Oh, yes, the ladies, God bless them, they filled our stomachs three times daily and soups and hamburgers.

The banquet, the farewell party and sightseeing trips were swell and the D. F. was a wow. Thanks Fort Wayne for a swell show, a swell time and we will remember you always, as the leaders of rabbitdom.

NEWS FROM MICHIGAN

Just a few lines of praise from the "official sucker of Michigan," commending the show committee and superintendent of the recent convention show in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Their efforts were rewarded by the wonderful cooperation of the breeders. The exhibits were 1,500 strong personal delegates from 15 states and a grand turn out of breeders in general. The banquet was a successful feature with the Michigan representation feeling quite proud that the principal speaker for this affair, was our own Professor Card of Michigan State College.

Many interesting topics were discussed at the meetings. The specialty clubs and general A. R. & C. B. A. meetings held discussions and arguments that were of educational interest to the breeder.

Now for the "Farewell Party." To my idea this was the entertainment highlight of the convention. Judge Griffin and his staff of helpers deserve an abundance of credit. I personally enjoyed myself to the nth degree.

Dr. Andrews, Gus Rutz and all people working in the show room deserve high praise for their time and efforts of making this year's show a success.

Mrs. S. Andrews, Mrs. G. Rutz, Mrs. Voigt and all ladies working on committees for the entertainment of the out of state lady visitors shall be commended for their efforts.

I must say that as a newcomer to an affair of this kind, Indiana hospitality has won me completely. More folks should try and attend a convention. It gives one the opportunity to meet and talk with so many people and breeders you just read about or happen to hear about. It affords breeders a chance to see some real stock, to meet and talk with the many judges who we otherwise would probably never meet.

Well, folks I am so chuck full of nice things to say that I had better sign off before I have a newspaper edition.

I just want to add that SMALL STOCK MAGAZINE is very fortunate in having two fine people in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Blair. Subscriptions should just roll in with two such fine decoys (no reflections).

The place for the next convention was not settled so, Michigan, here is your chance to get in there and bid.

By the time you read this article Christmas will be over, but to everyone I met at the convention and to all who read this, A Very Merry Christmas and A Bountiful New Year.

Best wishes and continued success to all new officers of the American Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association.

Official Sucker of Convention

NORTHEASTERN OKLAHOMA RABBIT & CAVY BREEDERS ASSN.

By H. S. Barnes, Publicity Director
The Northeastern Oklahoma Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association combined the regular meeting of November 25 with a big turkey feed and two enormous baked turkeys were quickly reduced to clean picked bones. At the business session following the dinner, routine business was followed by nominations for officers for 1942—Election will be at the last business meeting of the year. Date for this meeting has been moved up to December 20 and will be combined with a Christmas party to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Engle.

The December open meeting was held December 9 at the home of John Collins at Skiatook. The program scheduled for this meeting was postponed and the evening devoted to a discussion of the status of the rabbit industry in this section and plans advanced to further the industry and attract more reputable breeders to meet the steadily growing demand for rabbit products.

Members, Collins, Upp and Barnes participated in a meeting at Wichita, Kan., where the organization work for the Interstate Rabbit & Cavy Show circuit was done. We were glad to meet the swell bunch comprising the Sunflower club and really enjoyed our visits despite the strenuous work of getting the Interstate started.

For 1942 the Northeastern wishes all our friends and all good breeders everywhere a happy and profitable new year.

Put every possible dollar into Defense Bonds.

DON'T put stock in outdoor rabbitries in winter which have been purchased from a breeder who has indoor hutches. If you wish to acustom your stock to the outdoor hutches, move them out in the spring.

AMERICAN ANGORA RABBIT BREEDERS COOPERATIVE

By C. W. Orr, Sec., Palmer Lake, Colo.

Many things which have happened in the last months have been favorable to the Angora wool grower. The imports from France have been cut off some time back and the recent difficulties with Japan have cut off the imports from Japan. Up until the present time there has been a stock of Angora wool on hand which had been imported in anticipation of trouble with Japan but now this supply is running very low. It is now up to the growers in the United States to furnish all of the wool used in the United States. The question is—are we going to furnish it or are we going to let the mills turn to other materials because of a shortage of Angora wool. Each grower can expand his rabbitry to meet this emergency. Breed every breeding doe you have and produce young from now on. We have the finest wool grown, warmer, softer, more durable, no irritation. It has been used in larger quantities than most of the growers realize and

MICHIGAN STATE NOTES

By Mrs. Elizabeth Lancaster

Hi Folks. Some interesting topics about the state association in Michigan. At the special meeting of the Michigan State Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association October 19, 1941, at the Michigan State Agriculture College, East Lansing, Mich., many interesting and noteworthy projects were discussed. The meeting was also enhanced with the presence of two distinguished members, namely, A. C. Carton, chief of fairs, department of agriculture, Lansing, Mich.; and C. G. Card, professor of poultry husbandry, Michigan State College. Both men gave inspiring talks on the tremendous possibilities, the rabbit industry has in Michigan. With the enthusiasm shown in the state association we should go places, both men emphasized.

Mr. Sennewald has inaugurated a survey system, whereby every member is to contact breeders who do not belong to any association and get the number of rabbits raised and if they can dispose of them and just what difficulty they encounter in their hutches. This system will eventually lead them into the membership of the state association and new subscribers for the SMALL STOCK MAGAZINE. Also the college offers all help available to diagnose and analyze all ills and obstacles of the industry.

The agriculture department is also appropriating funds for a big advertising campaign and the rabbit industry has tossed its hat into this ring also. Committees were appointed for these two projects and outlines and progress are expected at our regular meeting in November.

Mr. Carton surprised the assembly, with the information that, the Michigan State Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association was being granted the privilege of parent association to allocate all state aid money to local associations, eligible. This is quite a compliment to our association as it expresses the confidence our new commissioner of agriculture and other state officers have in the ability of the association's officers and members. This information refers to 1942 allocations. So long for now, more about our regular meeting in November.

The regular meeting of the Michigan State Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association was held in the Poultry Laboratory Building, Michigan State College, East Lansing, Mich., Sunday afternoon November 16.

We enjoyed the pleasure of meeting several new members, reinstating of several others, which proves that our recent article in the SMALL STOCK MAGAZINE reached some sections, our members could not contact.

The survey of rabbits and breeders, now in progress, under the direction of O. M. Sennewald, is meeting with sure fire success. To date the committee has received 50 per cent response to all inquiries sent out. After this favorable report, the committee was given authority to continue the system until their objective is gained.

We have also set up a show circuit committee in the state association. This is just a brief outline of the work it has proposed.

1. To establish a standard entry fee for all shows in Michigan.

2. To operate the paying of premiums on a sliding scale basis, according to number of entries in a class.

3. Show dates to be submitted to show circuit committee for approval.

4. All local associations joining must pay a fee of $5 to cover expense of literature and general activity of committee and work of experimental work of experimental station at college.

Many more recommendations of this committee were discussed and the assembly was so well pleased with the progress, that they voted to accept all proposals of the committee.

The committee working on the advertising plan also gave a favorable report. The state has appropriated $4 to every $1 the association invests for the advertising of the rabbit industry. Our association has set its goal at $100, thus giving us $500 to use for the advertising promotion work.

All chartered local associations in Michigan are invited to pitch in this tournament.

Our next meeting will be at Bay City January 10 at 3 p. m. at the National Guard Armory. Come and bring your friends.

Don't forget Michigan is fast becoming rabbit conscious and we want and need a bigger and better state association. Let's all play ball.

ESSEX COUNTY RABBIT BREEDERS' ASSOCIATION

The Essex County Rabbit Breeders Association held its annual fall show in conjunction with the Topsfield Fair at the fair grounds from September 3-7, 1941. The show was considered very successful, with over 200 rabbits shown by 30 exhibitors from Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire and New York. There were several different breeds exhibited among them were New Zealand Whites, New Zealand Reds, Blue Beverens, White Beverens, Himalayans, Havans, Angoras, Polish (blue-eye), Polish (pink-eye), Black Dutch, Tortoise Dutch, Silver Martens, Cheekered Giants, Heavyweight Chinchillas and Standard Chinchillas and Champagne D'Argent. Many people were present at the day of the judging, as well as every day of the fair. The rabbits were judged by Judge Sam Rice and Judge Charles Henry.

NEBRASKA RABBIT AND CAVY BREEDERS

Mrs. George Luken, Secretary-Treasurer

5307 South 55th St., Omaha, Neb.

Our association closed the book on a very active and successful year on December 15 with a grand Christmas party and our annual election of officers at Hanscom Park Pavilion. The following is the list of new officers for 1942: President, L. G. Wagman; vice-president, L. R. Hawk; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. George Luken; directors: G. R. Nordquist, Earl Daubert, Geo. Luken and G. A. Bright. Mr. Wagman, Mrs. Luken, Mr. Nordquist, Mr. Luken and Mr. Bright were incumbents; Mr. Daubert and Mr. Hawk, newcomers. We wish to take this means of saying thank you to our retiring vice-president, G. P. Wiig and board member, A. J. Anderson, for their very valuable and able work in N. R. & C. B. A., and trust that members will give our newcomers the same fine cooperation.

Attention Breeders: We are most happy to report and we know breeders in this territory will be happy to learn that we now have a licensed registrar in Omaha. G. A. Bright, 6069 Blondo St., Omaha, Neb., took his final examinations under Judge W. D. Jones at the Denver show last month and passed with flying colors. He informs us he has received his license dated December 5 and is raring to go. Mr. Bright is a veteran in the rabbit business, has for many years raised fine, tested purebred stock and is as honest and upright a gentleman as you could ever want to meet. We have long felt the need for a registrar in this locality and we extend our sincere congratulations to Mr. Bright on receiving his license. We note an ever increasing interest in the rabbit business in these parts and expect very interesting developments for 1942.

Put every possible dime into Defense Stamps.

American Federation of New Zealand Breeders

By Mrs. A. L. Stallings, Sec.-Treas.
221 Quincy St., Pueblo, Colo.

The American Federation of New Zealand Breeders meeting was held at the convention at Fort Wayne, Ind., November 27, 1941, with a very good attendance. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mr. Mann. The secretary's report was read and accepted. The report of the auditing committee was given by F. W. Severance of Fountain City, Tenn., reporting that the books were O. K. The auditing committee, consisting of Mr. Severance, Dale Heiny and A. S. Gibbons was appointed previous to the meeting by President Mann. A motion was made and accepted that the New Zealand Federation refer the article on eliminating instead of disqualifying rabbits for overweight, which was brought up at the last convention, be referred back to the standard committee for clarification. A letter from A. J. Jansen, of Atlanta, Ga., regarding the standard weights on New Zealand but no action was taken. A suggestion was made that we make baby classes official. A general discussion was held and a motion made and accepted that the New Zealand Federation recommend to the standard committee that we have baby classes in New Zealand. A discussion was held regarding the number of board of directors in the New Zealand Federation. Some seem to think we have too many. A motion was made and accepted that a committee be appointed to form new election rules and submit them to the board of directors for action.

As our allotment of time for our meeting was exhausted a motion was made and accepted that we adjourn and meet at the Hotel at 7 p. m. Thursday.

The second meeting of the New Zealand Federation was called to order by President Mann. The question of cups for best New Zealand display at shows giving our specials was brought up by the secretary. She stated they were getting hard to get and the price going very high. A motion was made and accepted that the New Zealand Federation give $1.50 in defense stamps for best New Zealand display at shows giving our specials. This to be in effect until next convention in 1942. The question of baby classes in New Zealand was brought up again and a motion made and accepted that we recommend to the standard committee that the weight on baby classes be 5 to 6½ pounds and not over 3 months of age. A motion was made and accepted that we extend a vote of thanks from the New Zealand Federation to the Fort Wayne club for their wonderful hospitality. A vote of thanks was given the New Zealand officers for their fine work during the past year. It was recommended that all New Zealand members offer all help possible to all 4-H club members. There being no further business a motion was made and accepted that we adjourn to meet at the next A. R. & C. B. A. convention.

Secretary-Treasurer's report for 1941

The records of the American Federation of New Zealand Breeders for 1941 is very good and I am very proud and grateful to the members who have worked so hard for the federation. Last year at convention time we had 291 members. This year our membership stands at 379, a gain of 88. Ohio takes the lead in number of members with 59; California, 47; Indiana, 42; Colorado, 28; Iowa and Illinois, 20 each; Missouri, 18; Oklahoma, 15; Oregon, 14; Tennessee, 12; Wisconsin, 10; New York and Texas, 9 each; Kansas and Washington, 7 each; Virginia, 6; Georgia, Minnesota, Nebraska, Utah and Michigan, 5 each; Pennsylvania and Vermont, 4 each; Alabama, Connecticut, Maryland, New Mexico, 3 each; Kentucky, Louisiana, South Carolina, 2 each; District of Columbia, Idaho, Massachusetts, New Jersey, and Rhode Island, 1 each.

Indianapolis, Ind., again leads the cities in members having 14; St. Louis, Mo., 11; Oklahoma City, Okla., 10; Pueblo, Colo., 9; Portland, Ore., and Chattanooga, Tenn., 8 each; Fort Wayne, Ind., 7; Denver, Colo., Colorado Springs, Colo., San Diego, Calif., Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Dayton, Ohio, 6 each.

The New Zealand members turning in 4 or more members and receiving pencils are: A. Weygandt, Chicago, Ill., 16 members; J. H. Cuttis, San Diego, Calif., 10; R. C. Huggins, Chattanooga, Tenn., 8; Mrs. Eunice Casey, Yorktown, Ind., and R. L. Sauer, St. Louis, Mo., 7 each; Harry Rice, Portsmouth, Ohio, 6; H. F.

Cromer, Indianapolis, Ind., Marvin F. Carley, Battleboro, Vt., W. J. Abbott, Hastings, Neb., T. L. Owen, Oklahoma City, Okla., 5 each; C. E. Gustafson, Wichita, Kan., Walter N. Mann, Indianapolis, Ind., L. A. Schutze, Houston, Texas, C. E. Larrison, Oklahoma City, Okla., Joe Wojcik, Elyria, Ohio, J. C. Lowitt, Troutdale, Ore., 4 each.

Early in the year Mr. Stallings and Mr. Blair resigned from the board of directors and our president, Mr. Mann appointed F. C. Davies, Orange, Calif., and Wayne W. Wood, Scottsboro, Ala., to fill the unexpired terms. In July of this year Oscar Schutze resigned and L. A. Hambrick, of Pueblo, Colo., was appointed to finish his unexpired term. Mr. Stallings and Mr. Blair are both officers of the A. R. & C. B. A. and felt they should devote more of their time to the A. R. & C. B. A. Mr. Schutze stated his work required all his time.

From November 1, 1940, to November 1, 1941, there were 481 New Zealanders registered. A slight gain over last year.

Shows giving our cups and special ribbons since November 1, 1940, are as follows: Doylestown Fair, Pennsylvania, 1 ribbon with 2 New Zealand members exhibiting; Chicago, Ill., 8 ribbons and cup, cup going to Jack Frost, of Melrose Park, Ill., there were 10 New Zealand members exhibiting. Chattanooga, Tenn., 12 ribbons and cup, cup going to E. E. Coulter, Chattanooga, Tenn., 15 New Zealand members exhibiting. Waterloo, Iowa, 10 ribbons and cup, cup going to Claire C. Barclay, Waterloo, Iowa, 16 New Zealand members exhibiting. Oklahoma City, Okla., 11 ribbons and cup, cup going to E. M. McNatt, Oklahoma City, Okla., 22 New Zealand members exhibiting. Minneapolis, Minn., 3 ribbons, 2 New Zealand members exhibiting. Rockland Rabbit Breeders Association, Pearl River, N. Y., 6 ribbons, 2 New Zealand members exhibiting. Colorado State Fair, Pueblo, Colo., 12 ribbons and cup, cup going to E. J. Koontz, Lodi, Calif., 29 New Zealand members exhibiting. New Bethel, Ind., 12 ribbons, 7 New Zealand members exhibiting. Illinois State Fair, Springfield, Ill., 7 ribbons, 13 New Zealand members exhibiting. Cuyahoga County Fair, Berea, Ohio, 8 ribbons, 7 New Zealand members exhibiting. Dixon, Ill., 10 ribbons, 4 New Zealand members exhibiting. New York State Fair, 4 ribbons, 5 New Zealand members exhibiting. Los Angeles County Fair, Pomona, Calif., 9 ribbons and cup, cup going to Brynats Rabbitry, Santa Ana, Calif., 17 New Zealand members exhibiting. Waterloo, Iowa, 10 ribbons and cup, cup going to Claire C. Barclay, Waterloo, Iowa, 11 New Zealand members exhibiting. Atlanta, Ga., 10 ribbons, 8 New Zealand members exhibiting. Indiana State Fair, 12 ribbons, 6 New Zealand members exhibiting. Western Washington Fair, 10 ribbons and cup, cup going to Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Ferrill, Newberg, Ore., 11 New Zealand members exhibiting. Reading Fair, Reading, Pa., 3 ribbons, 2 New Zealand members exhibiting. Lima, Ohio, 12 ribbons and cup, cup going to Briggs Rabbitry, Lima, Ohio, 12 New Zealand members exhibiting. Portland, Ore., Pacific International Live Stock Exposition 11 ribbons and cup, cup going to Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Ferrill, Newberg, Ore., 13 New Zealand members exhibiting. Omaha, Neb., 7 ribbons, 3 New Zealand members exhibiting. Portland, Ore., 12 ribbons, 7 New Zealand members exhibiting. Muncie, Ind., 6 ribbons and cup, cup going to Orville, Filler, Fort Wayne, Ind., 14 New Zealand members exhibiting.

We mailed out for the year 409 special ribbons and 23 cups.

In 1940 we paid out of the convention not to first place New Zealand winners at the convention show held at Grand Rapids, $64.50 with a balance of $1.50 not paid out. This balance started our 1941 convention pot which has reached $123.50.

The results of the New Zealand election of officers for the ensuing year are as follows: President, Walter N. Mann, 112, elected; Harry Rice, 33; A. J. Jansen, 7. Vice-President, L. A. Schutze, 74, elected; N. W. Lambers, 48; A. Bjorken, 29. Board of directors, the first 12 being elected: A. Weygandt, 139; Mrs. Leta Owens, 120; A. H. Miller, 116; F. C. Davies, 106; Wayne W. Wood, 99; D. P. Law, 97; Harold Nickles, 86; L. A. Hambrick, 85; R. C. Huggins, 78; Edw. H. Stahl, 78; G. C. Rutz, 75. Mr. Rutz stated, as he was on the board of the A. R. & C. B. A., he felt his name should be left off: Joe Wojcik, 73; C. E. Larrison, 71; C. E. Gustafson, 71; Wylie Pope, 70; W. J. Abbott, 68; Everett Morris, 52; R. L. Sauer, 50; William Zeller, 26; H. F. Cromer, 26; A. S. Gibbons, 26; R. C. Shoptaw, 25; Fred Culler, 24; E. E. Coulter, 17. If we will get in back of these officers we can really put the New Zealand Federation in the front. I feel they will all work for the Federation and so let's all cooperate.

President Mann has informed me that I have been re-elected secretary-treasurer of the New Zealand Federation. I deeply appreciate the confidence placed in me.

ORGANIZE NEW CLUB

A number of rabbit breeders in the Syracuse area have organized the Central New York Rabbit & Cavy Breeders Association with H. W. Capron, of Syracuse as president and C. Clift as vice-president. We welcome any in this district to our membership list.

North American Marten Rabbit Club

By Stephen C. Hoyle, Secretary
95 Edmund Street
Woonsocket, R. I.

Elections are over and we are very proud to offer the following list of officers: President, Paul Birdsall; vice-president, James Steen; directors, N. J. Fisher, C. N. Guyton, L. James, J. W. King, J. F. Knewasser. We are certain that with this group of officers there will be no holding our club this year.

Don't forget our all Marten show to be held at Binghamton, N. Y., starting February 13 and lasting 3 days. It will, very probably, be the largest Marten show ever held. There will be nothing but Martens exhibited so the judge will not have to rush through the classes in order to get to the next breed. They will all get a real going over, and as Gene Hamlin is to do the judging they will be placed in the proper order when done. Johnny Knewasser is to be the superintendent of the show so it will be wise to write him for a premium list. The list itself promises to be a good one, if the specials continue to come in as they have in the past month. If you would like to get the advertising that goes with a specials offer write to Paul Birdsall, Holcomb, N. Y., and let him know what you wish to offer; he will list it in the premium list under your name.

Some of the members have written in with constructive criticisms cast in the direction of the judges. It has long been a point of controversy that some of the judges place Silver as the all important item, when actually, the Standard states, all other things being equal, give preference to the highest Silver.

Several of our members have written very encouraging letters this past month. It begins to look like old times again with all the interest in the club and is affairs being reborn. Keep up the good work, the more the merrier.

Three new members the past month. Everything seems to be more rosy.

I'll notify the members of the club as soon as the secretary's election is completed.

OHIO CHECKERED GIANT CLUB

By E. J. Miller, Secretary

2731 Fern Avenue, Columbus, Ohio
This club will soon enter into its third year and I am proud to say they have cooperated splendidly in the past. With a membership of 50 we can double this during 1942, this can be done if you will interest others in raising this breed for the displays at the smaller shows as well as the larger ones are growing and the quality of the best.

The dues of each member falls due on the first of each year, so don't put it off, just send your dues in right now so we can start off with a bang. We have made our plans for our 1942 show and this one should be as big a success as in the past with the present officers directing the club affairs. Officers elected are as follows: President, R. W. Brumbaugh; vice-president, Tom Lippincott; secretary, E. J. Miller; treasurer, W. D. Peer; directors, S. S. McFadden, A. J. Foerster, Norgo Dock. I hope in the near future to supply each and every member with a copy of by-laws and a complete membership roster, so in order to be listed be prompt and renew.
Let's go Ohio.

CINCINNATI, OHIO

The Queen City Rabbit Fanciers, which was organized in August and received its charter from A. R. & C. B. A. in September, held its first election of officers on December 3. D. L. Jackson was elected president; Hugo Herrmann, vice-president; Virginia Kennen, treasurer; Hazel Waters, secretary; board of directors, R. K. Walters, chairman, Hugo Herrmann, Tony Kenning, Wm. Padgett and Earl Stevens.

Plans are being made to sponsor a spring show and we extend an invitation to all who can to come down and show their rabbits.

Our entertainment committee has been very active, holding a party on November 8 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Jackson honoring their 24th wedding anniversary. They are planning to have a New Year's Eve party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Kenning.

A program has been arranged whereby at each meeting some important subject will be discussed enabling new members to learn much. We are looking forward to a very successful 1942.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.
By Frank L. McKay, 36 Tacoma St., Rochester, N. Y.

The Rochester Rabbit Breeders Association held its regular December meeting at the Museum on Friday, December 12. Approximately 70 members were present. Nine new members were voted into membership.

Mr. DuPrey, our president, in summing up the past year events stated that 29 new members were added to our list during the year. Other outstanding events that have taken place are the Rabbit Dinner, Table Show, Picnic and the rabbit show with the fanciers. They all proved to benefit the rabbit industry.

After the meeting we were served a lunch by the ladies auxiliary. The club voted to buy a $50 U. S. Defense Saving Bond.

New officers for the coming year were elected.

The Frosted Rabbit Meat Marketing Cooperative affiliated with our club is going along fine. They gave a fine exhibit at our show. It was composed of a refrigerator well packed with rabbit meat, a complete fur display composed of many tanned pelts and finished garments, and equipment of the rabbitry, such as hutches, nest boxes and other items. This exhibit was under the continuous supervision of the club members who were ready to offer any valuable information.

The past few weeks have seen an upward trend in the demand for meat rabbits. In fact, the demand is so strong in some sections, that not enough first class stock can be found to fill this increasing demand. Buyers tell us that the demand is here and will continue for some time for good plump stock. To get the prices you must produce a first class carcass.

A word of advice to breeders who wish to join our club. Just drop me a card expressing your wish and I will mail you a membership blank. You must be a member of our club to gain the benefits from the frosted rabbit marketing.

Now that this year is drawing to a close, we hope that the same support and cooperation will be extended to our newly elected officers.

Season's greetings and best wishes.

Get More Money for Your Rabbit Skins

Remember, National is not a brokerage house. Our essential needs are for rabbit skins expressly for dressing and dyeing purposes. Every processing operation is conducted under our own roof. We supply finished furs to Garment, Slipper and Glove makers all over the nation. We need huge quantities of raw skins . . . every kind . . . to constantly supply these growing demands.

Every skin purchased by National is honestly graded as to its true commercial value. The price we pay you is based, just as it should be, upon the actual worth per pound, for each and every grade of skins. More shippers are selling their entire production to National every month. A better average price is the answer.

SELL DIRECT TO THE Fur Dresser

When you sell rabbit skins to National, you eliminate all middlemen . . . your skins go direct to the house that prepares them for manufacturing purposes. That's why you get more money!

Monthly Price Bulletins . . . Tags, Free

Send right now for FREE shipping tags . . . get your name on our mailing list for monthly price quotations. Pick-up men, bring us your next load and see the difference.

"Liquid Sulpho"

Are you losing young rabbits when they are from 6 to 10 weeks old? Practically every rabbitry in the country is troubled more or less with coccidiosis—many breeders are unaware of the fact. Play safe; three drops of Liquid Sulpho to the gallon of drinking water will insure you against further losses.
